Nineteen hundred and eighty-seven TIMES TO REMEMBER

In spite of a local and statewide economic crisis, many factors contributed to making the 1986-87 school year "The Best of Times" at SHS.

Many "firsts" played a vital role in making this a good year. Some of these changes were in the physical structure. An obvious transformation was the freshly painted Chieftain, not army, green lockers. For the first time ever, we began the year with air conditioning. This did not affect the school board's decision to relax the dress code, and several students responded by wearing Jams in the winter months. When asked about what motivated him to dress in such a way, James Seavey, said, "I just did it for the fun of it."

A new and much stricter attendance policy, though not popular, did affect many students. "It makes you come to school because you are afraid you are going to flunk," stated Denise Haywood. When asked about the five-day policy, James Ingram said, "It means more money for the school."

The library provided another first --- the opportunity to be the first student to check out one of 550 new books or to use one of five new sets of encyclopedias. Traditional English students enjoyed a week-long National Guard career orientation program, one of several new opportunities offered students.

In 1987, we recognized the first group of SHS honor graduates, highlighted by the wearing of special white stoles at the graduation ceremonies.

Finally, SHS saw two new faces in the faculty ranks. Mr. Clinton came to Seminole from Coalgate to lead the band. Ms. Roether, our new art instructor, returned to Seminole after being away three years. She said, "It was nice to come back to a place where the community and faculty support my art program." We're glad they joined our family and hope they're around for many years to come.

All in all, 1986-87 was a very good year!

Special Times For Special People

Belated Festivities Crown Chelle Spears Queen.

During the week of October third, the tension and excitement of Homecoming was building. Students worked diligently toward the completion of their class floats which were judged on Friday. Even though the game against McGuinness ended in victory for the Chieftains, the Homecoming ceremonies were postponed for one week because of heavy rains, delaying the excitement for the court and the high school.

Friday, October 10, 1986, turned out to be Homecoming for Seminole High. The festivities began with a traditional pep assembly to introduce the court to the student body and to invite alumni back to S.H.S. A parade down Main Street began at four o'clock, consisting of fire engines, school activity groups, and the Homecoming royalty to name a few. That night, as early as six-thirty, the student council began selling and delivering carnations instead of the traditional mums. The royalty was introduced at seven o'clock, and the Queen was crowned. While the Queen and attendants looked on from the sidelines, the Chieftains stomped the Tecumseh Savages with an ending score of 27-12. The game was followed by a dance at ten-thirty with music provided by Wade Carter and KJ 103.

In the Brokenbow pep assembly, the Flag Corps performs for the student body.

Pep assemblies provide A TIME TO SHOUT

One of the many "good times" this year was attending the pep assemblies. Instead of the pep band, we were greeted by sounds of the entire band warming up to play "Green and White Forever." Watching the Drill Team and the Flag Corps perform to live music this year was a treat for everyone. To keep the "pep" in the assemblies, the cheerleaders worked hard all year leading the student body in cheers, performing skits, and helping the senior football players do their annual male cheerleader skit. When the cheerleaders did the battle cry at the first pep assembly, the eighth grade kept up the tradition of not knowing what to do.

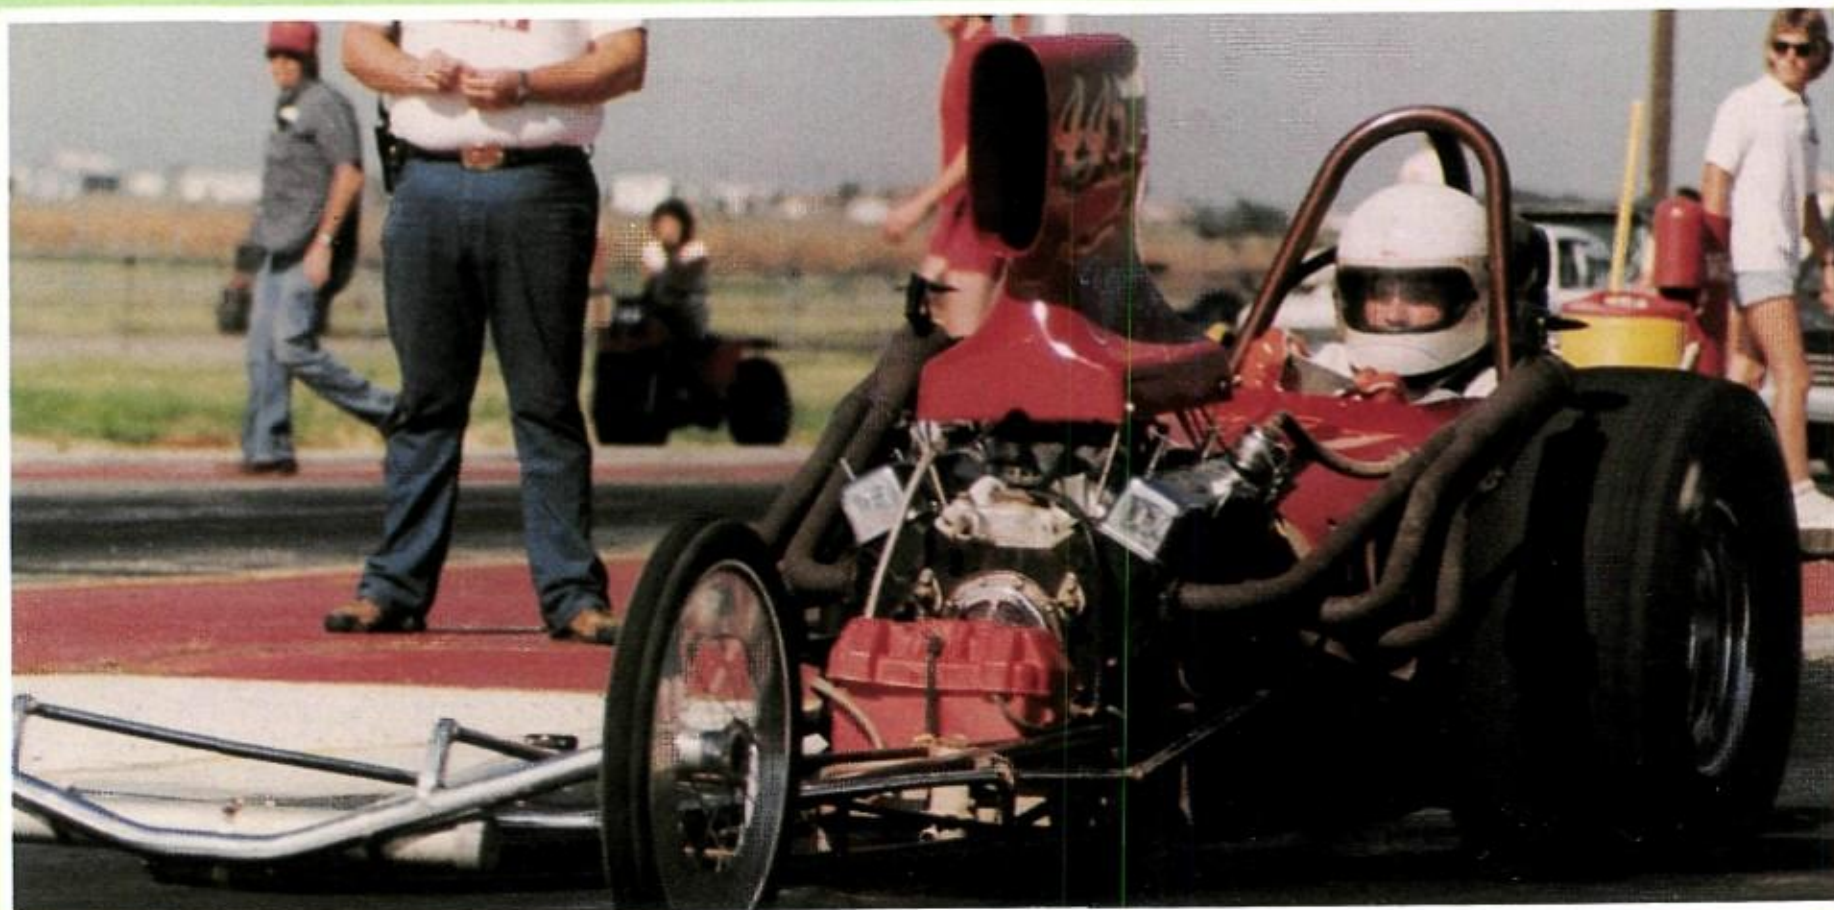

One by one, the senior basketball and football players took their turns at speaking to the student body. One senior stood out among them all. Joe "Fink" Victory roused the crowd with requests like, "Wolves, come out and play" and "Don't go up town tonight, come party with us (football team) under the lights!"

We always ended the rallies with "Green and White Forever" and a mad dash for lunch.

SHS Senior "Races" On

For senior Chris Carrell drag racing is an "exciting" way to spend the weekends. He began competing in the high school class at the age of fifteen. He became interested in racing when he helped his cousin Ricky with his races by pulling the dragster back after each race. Chris travels every Sunday to Ardmore where he has come in as high as third place. He was also named as "Rookie of the Year" for 1986 in Ardmore. He competes in both the high school and super pro class. Competition takes place mostly during the spring and summer, but at any time during the winter, when the weather is dry and the track is clear, the Ardmore racetrack opens and the Carrells can be found.

The cost of racing is very high. In Ardmore, the entry fee costs anywhere from fifty to seventy-five dollars. When Chris competed in Dallas and Amarillo, the entry cost was $150. The car he races (as seen above in a photo of him in Amarillo) has run up to 152 miles per hour, and his fastest time was clocked at 8.92 seconds for a quarter-mile. The engine, required to attain this speed, runs on fuel which costs $4.00 a gallon.

Looking toward the future, Chris said he would like to compete after graduation and wants to make a career out of racing.

Two other students at Seminole High School compete in auto racing but they run their races in Cameros. Seniors Cris Pogue and Stacy Johnson also experience the exhilaration of speeding down the quarter-mile raceway at top speed.

Teachers

Two new teachers have joined the ranks of Seminole High School this year. Mr. Tim Clinton, a native of Ada, took over the leadership of the Chieftain band. His previous three years of teaching experience were spent at Coalgate.

Ms. Liz Roether is our new art instructor, returning to Seminole after being away three years.

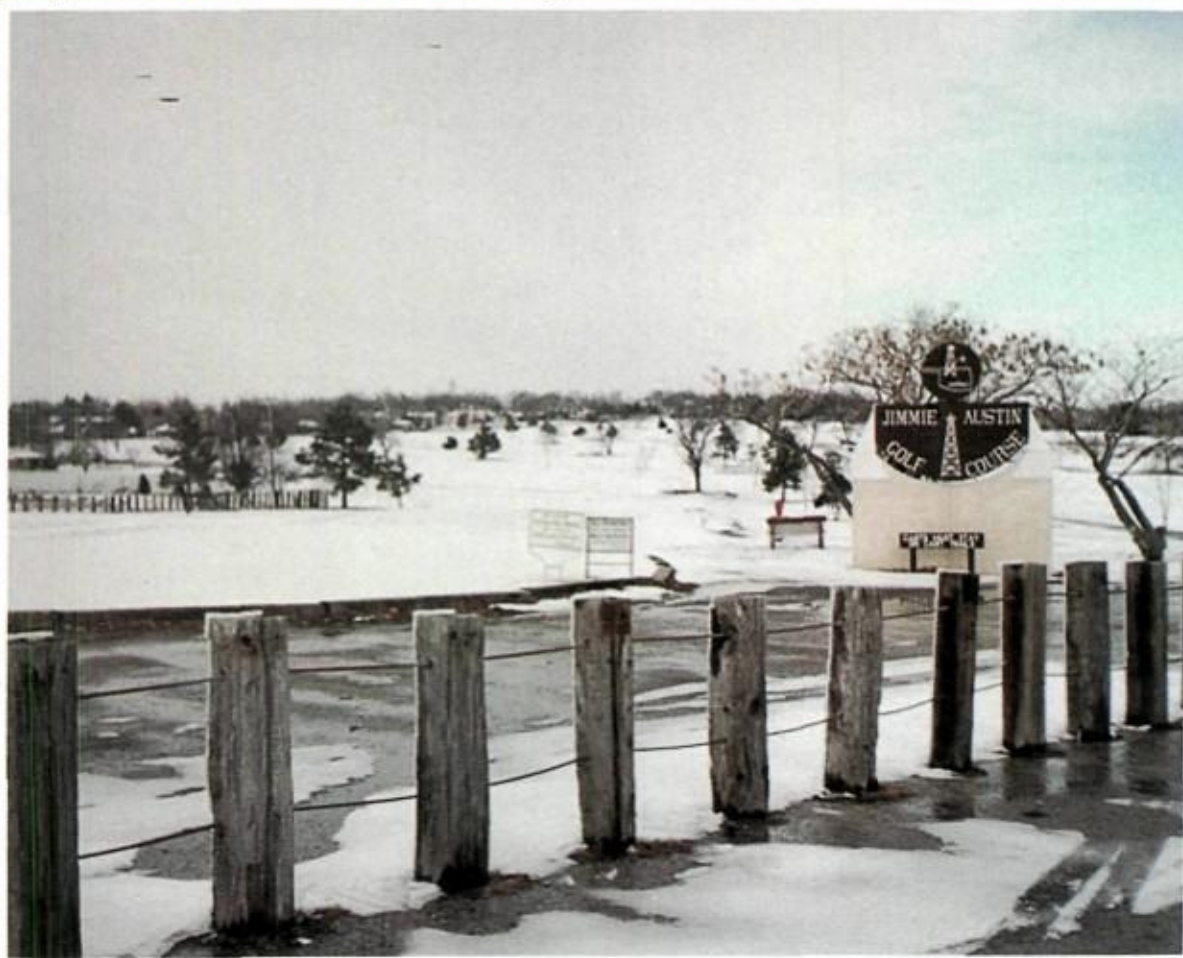

Memorable Times

The Winter Of 1987

Although the winter weather has been unseasonably warm, the worst winter storm in at least twenty years hit right in the heart of Oklahoma in 1987. The large ice storm hit Seminole on Saturday, January 18, dismembering tree limbs and severing power lines with its fierce sting of cold and ice. The weight of at least three inches of ice forced many tree limbs to break off and cut off power to 19,000 people here in Seminole County. Many people were without electricity for up to a week after the storm, even with O.G.&E. crews working around the clock to restore power. Rural families were hit the hardest with many losing their water along with their electricity. Those who were unfortunate enough to live on dirt roads were "iced" in for two days and had to settle for meals cooked in their fireplaces. The process of clearing away branches continued throughout the month of January.

"Old" And "New" In Politics

Nineteen hundred and eighty-seven saw at least three important government changes. Republican Henry Bellmon returned to politics when he was elected governor of Oklahoma and took office in January. In February the new seat belt law requiring front-seat passengers to "buckle up" went into effect. Finally all Americans experienced a great apprehension and a little hope about the new income tax laws.

Modeling

One of our own students here at SHS chose to work in a profession dreamed of by just about every girl. Suzanne Edwards, a senior, has been modeling with the John Casablanca's Modeling Agency now for a year. She started with this agency by completing a twenty-week training course. This year she appeared in Seventeen magazine in a prom dress ad for the Clothes Horse, an Oklahoma City store. This opportunity presented itself when she went to be fitted for a dress at the Clothes Horse. While there, the owners asked her if she had ever done any modeling and if she would be interested in doing the ad. This was her first nationwide magazine ad. Suzanne's picture can be seen in the February issue of Seventeen.

Angie Knight and friends enjoy eating pizza for lunch.

Brent Simmons and Nancy Knox pick up their hamburgers at Braum's.

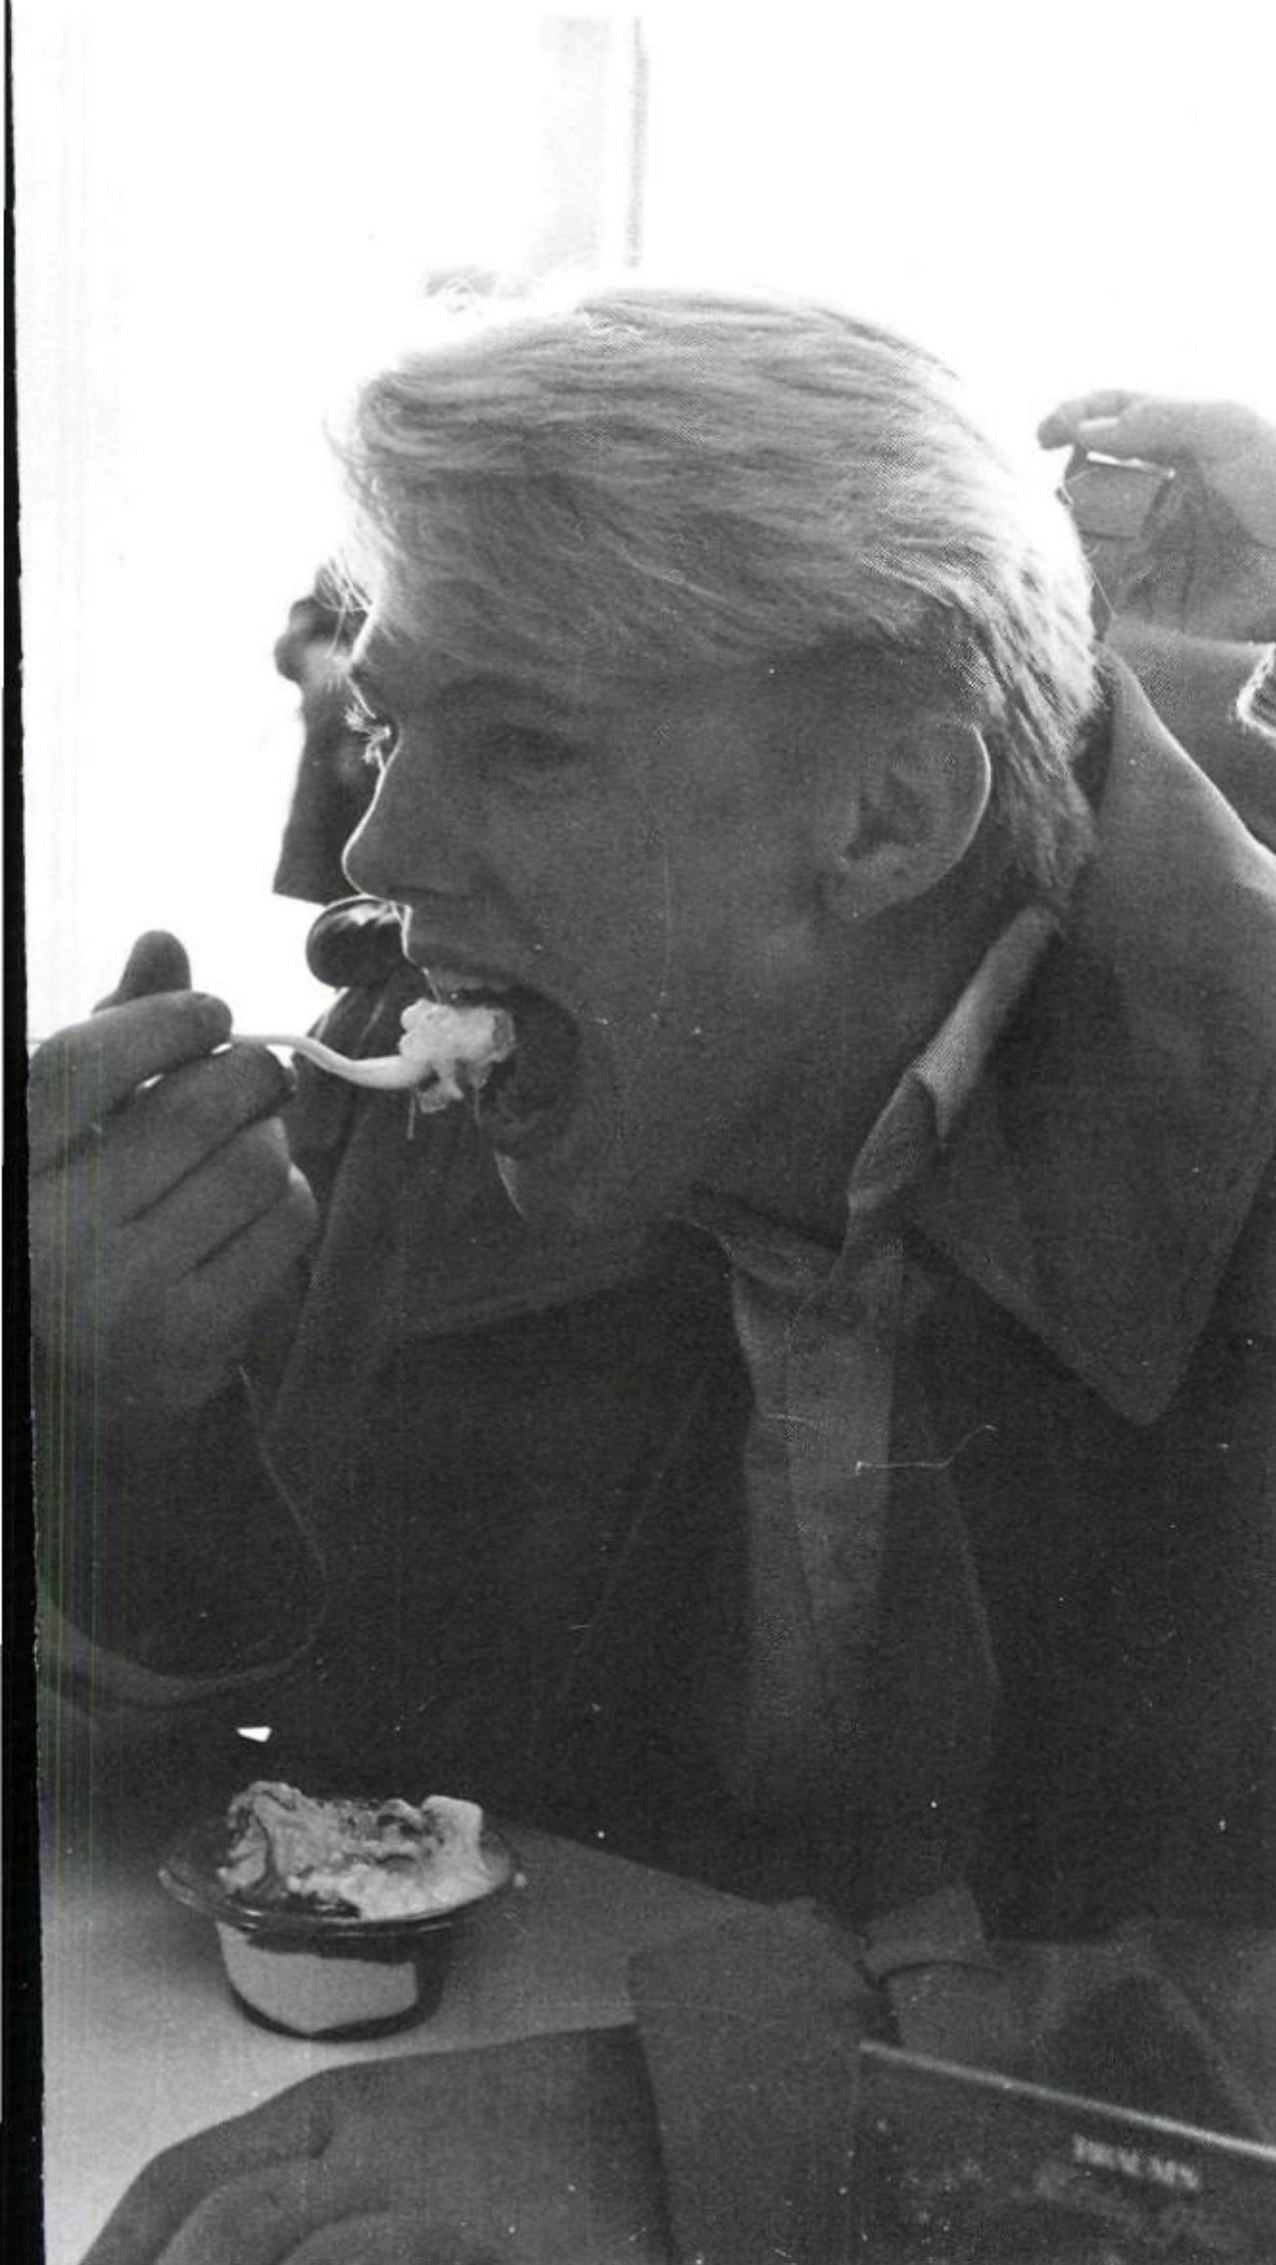

Lisa Cherry contemplates whether or not to have some more pizza.

Landon Johnson hurries to eat his pizza so he can get back to class on time.

Remains a favorite

Throughout the years, the students of SHS have been faced with the problem of trying to find some place to eat lunch. Once again, we found a problem among the younger generation of students in Seminole. The eighth and ninth graders must either bribe an older member of the school or walk their way to lunch. They usually ended up walking unless they had an older brother or sister. Their trek usually took them to either the Chieftain Den or to Richard's Quick Stop where they indulged in eating hamburgers, corn dogs, chicken, and potato wedges.

The sophomores, after having two previous years under their belt, didn't have as much trouble finding a ride. Some even finally got their licenses. This year of school usually opens up the doors to a world of eating pizza and many other delicacies not offered to the "scrubs." Some of the many different places to dine during lunch were Van's Pig Stand, Braum's, Polo's Mexican Restaurant, Ed and Eddie's, and Doyle's Quick Stop. Surprisingly enough, many students started eating at Polo's this year. They found it amazingly inexpensive, and they could even get back to school on time for fifth hour.

A big fad this year was the wearing of high tops in almost every color imaginable. Shanna Nicholson is just one of many girls at S.H.S. who like their Guess overalls Randy Sigle is yet another Guess Wearer, and he paired his sweatshirt with his colored high tops.

Chris Hammond used a large quantity of bleach to get his jeans just the perfect color.

Heather Knowles is decked out in her Guess overalls and jacket.

Fashions Show

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

During the year we saw many different types of fashion for the guys, and for the girls. Some 1987 fashion even crossed over into being fashions for both. All in all, this year was a return to some of our old favorites of the past.

The big splashes in the guy's fashions this year were the traditional appearances of Levi's jeans and jean jackets. It was almost impossible to look down the halls of SHS and not see at least ten people wearing them. Another oldie returning to SHS were the Converse high top tennis shoes. They came in just about every color imaginable and just about everyone had at least one pair. With these high tops we saw many people with their jeans rolled up at the bottom. With the appearance of the long trenchcoats and the many different types of Swatches, we saw the return of yet two more oldies. The new fads for the guy's included the appearance of jeans again. Taking a perfectly good pair of Levi's and bleaching them out seemed to be a contest on who could make their jeans look worse. Another bizarre ritual among the boys was, strangely enough, getting their hair cut. The style of getting their hair buzzed and having things written on or colors lined on the sides of their heads were a somewhat regular sight here.

Just like the guys, the girls had a lot of jeans in their fashion. Bleached jeans and jean jackets, along with Guess overalls were donned by many girls at SHS.

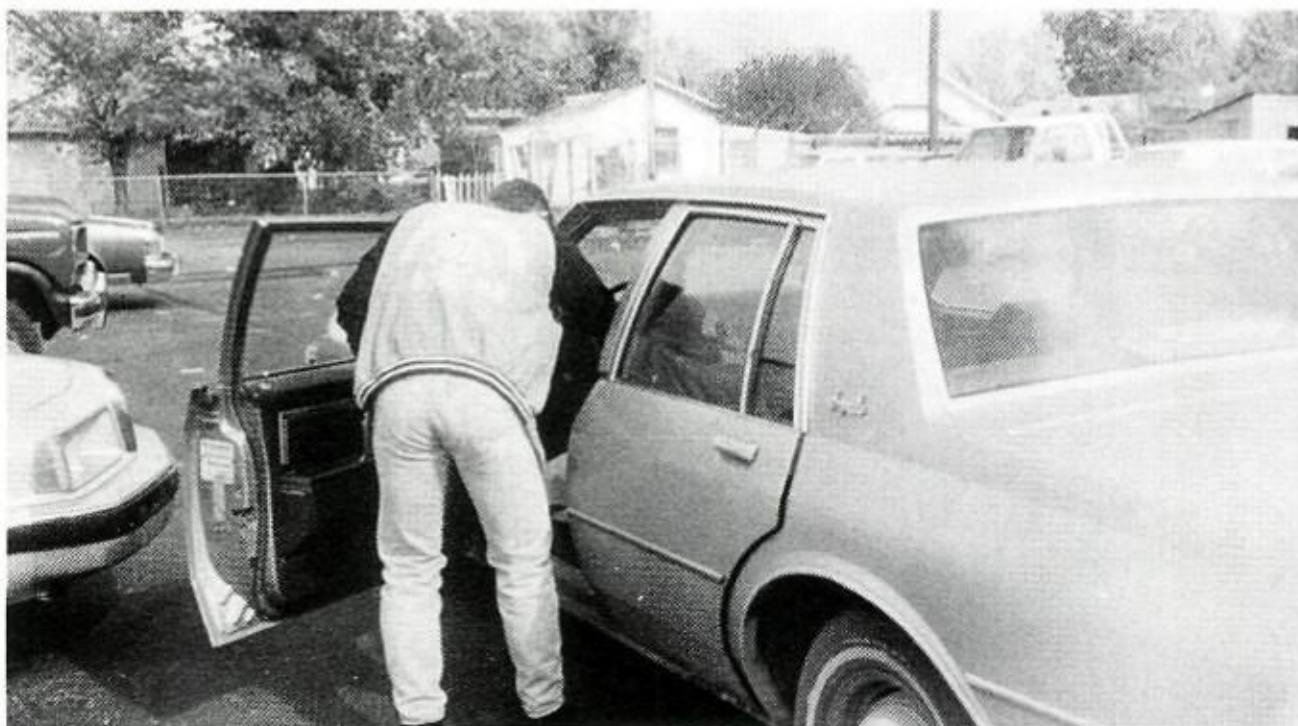

Boots, ranging from black "wrestling" boots to any color ropers, were also donned by many of the Seminole girls. Blunt haircuts were still in style, but slowly fading, but no matter how their hair was cut, the banana clip was something to hold it in a pony tail. The big, new thing this year for the girls was the wearing of silver in every way, shape, and form. Some of the silver items included necklaces, rings, earrings, shirts, and even shoes!

Another new style was the wearing of glasses by both guys and girls. Many people who had both contacts and glasses wore their glasses, not because they "had" to but because they like them.

Steve Staley dons a "Boz" haircut.

Randy Sigle shows off his style by wearing a trench coat.

Karl Jones, after seeing a tow truck, ran out of class to move his car.

Students stealing coaches' reserved parking places was a common sight before the towing occurred.

TIME RUNS OUT

On illegal parkers

The parking here at Seminole High School had been terrible for the past few years, but in 1986-87 this problem came to extremes. Students "borrowing" teachers' and coaches' reserved parking places was a common sight. Another common sight was students parking in the center of rows or right behind other cars. At least seven times a day, classes and teachers were disrupted, because senior Cathy Kahn had to be called out of class to move her car which she had parked behind some one else's vehicle. Some people started parking badly intentionally so they could get out of class.

Throughout the year, repeated threats of towing off cars had been voiced over the intercom by both Mr. Little and Mr. Walters. Carrying out these threats was not resorted to until the second nine weeks, and Tracy Stephens was made the first example. Her car was towed off without warning because she parked in front of the gas pumps.

After repeated threats from Mr. Walters, An example is finally made out of Tracy Stephen's car.

Festive Times Prevail

Jennifer Cullison Crowned Queen

Everyone will remember February 10, 1987, as a day of fun and festivities. It was basketball homecoming. We all waited to see two things; the wide variety of the homecoming gowns and whether or not Dannie and Jennifer could break the record, 75-second kiss.

Before the main event took place, we all sat patiently through two other basketball games. The boys' B-team started off the evening with a successful game against the Henryetta Hens. The girls followed with their game and then began getting ready for the homecoming ceremonies. At half time of the boys' game, Miss Jennifer Cullison was introduced to us as Queen and she was given roses and a crown was placed on her head. Everyone knew what was next. We all held our breath as the queen's escort, Dannie Danielson went for the record kiss. Forty-five seconds later, the band began to play and the ceremonies were over. The evening was topped off nicely with a high school boys' victory over the Hens.

The Homecoming court consisted of: Sophomore Attendant, Miss Monica Myrick, escorted by Jeff Nance; Junior Attendant, Miss Malisha Biggerstaff, escorted by Richard Patillo; Senior Attendant Miss Angela Woodard, escorted by Scott Massey; Maid of Honor, Miss Nikki Pebworth, escorted by Jay Simpkins; crown bearer, Russell Collier and flower girl, Brittany Redding; and Queen, Miss Jennifer Cullison, escorted by Dannie Danielson.

Festive Times Reign

Faculty And Students Enjoy Holidays

Here at Seminole High School we enjoyed many holidays. Fun times prevailed on Halloween, and some students were caught dressed for the occasion. The holiday of Christmas along with the celebration came next. It seemed that the most Christmas-spirited for 1986 was math teacher, Mr. Brad Moody. To discipline his students, he made them sing Christmas carols in front of other classes. He placed a tree in his room and had his students draw names for them to buy presents costing under one dollar. The presents were exchanged the Thursday before Christmas break. The presents ranged from candy, to logs, to highway flashers, and everyone involved had a great time. Our next holiday was Valentine's Day. The office was filled to the ceiling with deliveries of flowers and balloon bouquets from friends, loved ones, and even secret admirers. All in all, the holidays were fun and fulfilling for all at S.H.S.

Aaron Cooks received a travel time pack for his upcoming spring trip.

Twirp Week took place on February 4th, 5th, and 6th, and many SHS students became involved. Wednesday began with Costume Day followed by Teacher Dress Alike Day and 50's Day. The winners for best dressed on each day were: Amy Waddell, Statue of Liberty, and Charlie Eversole, Harpo Marx, on Costume Day; Kevin Brinker and Cathy Kahn, both Mrs. Cushman, on Teacher Day; and David "the nerd" Lemmings and Nancy Knox on 50's Day. The royalty consisted of: Jason Lewis and Corey Roberson, eighth grade; Jason Benn and Gari Welt, frosh.; Brandon Moyer and Shelly Johnson, soph.; Clint Whelan and Tina Ruminer, junior; Willie Plunkett and Heather Buss, senior; Steve Battles, Best Man, and Cathy Kahn, escort; and King Kevin Brinker, crowned by Chelle Spears.

Spring Musical Guys And Dolls Provide A Time To Sing

Mrs. Sherweeta Benn and Miss Judith MacMasters once again did a wonderful job of choosing cast members and sponsoring our spring musical. The play this year was Loesser and Burrow's Guys and Dolls. The leading roles were performed by Brett Benn as Sky Masterson, Trudy Seay as Sarah Brown, Stephen Battles as Nathan Detroit, and April Ledbetter as Adelaide.

Supporting roles were performed by Greg Pritchard and Scott Massey.

After seven long weeks of rehearsals, the play was given a trial run in front of students from the surrounding school districts at 9:00 on Monday, March second. The production opened at 7:30 when forty actors and actresses and ten production staff members put all of their hard work on the line for public approval. Some of the favorite songs of the musical included the theme "Guys and Dolls", performed by the chorus, "Sit Down Your Rockin' the Boat", a solo by Greg Pritchard with help from the chorus, and "Luck be a Lady", the solo by Brent Benn with help from the Gamblers. The play turned out to be a big success for everyone involved.

April "Adelaide" Ledbetter performs with the Hot Box Girls.

Sports Banquet

Honors Senior Athletes

The annual SHS Sports Awards Banquet for 1987 was held at the Elks Lodge on May 8th. This banquet is a gathering of coaches, senior athletes, parents, and friends to recognize the seniors for their hard work and dedication to athletics. Seniors received large wooden plaques with a large color picture with names and their achievements embossed in gold. Several special awards were also given. Brian McAlvain, Darin Lutz, and Nikki Pebworth were named Outstanding Athletes of the Year. The Coaches Staff Award went to Karl Jones. John Sharpe was the recipient of the Brad Ingram Award presented by Lance Ingram. Angela Woodard and Brad McAlvain were awarded the Meritorious Award.

Honors Given For Excellence In Education

On May 13, 1987, twenty-five students received honors and recognition for their hard work and dedication to their studies and activities. The awards assembly is a long-awaited event for all.

Various community clubs, organizations, and the U.S. military joined us to formally honor certain students with plaques, trophies, and scholarships. The valedictorians and salutatorians were introduced to all who attended. They were: valedictorians-Amy Doudican, Kerri Hardin, and Cathy Kahn; salutatorians-Elizabeth Gipson and Sonja Qualls. The Green Pride Award, the most distinguished award given by the school, was presented this year by Dr. Audie Woodard to Amy Doudican and Brent Benn.

Departmental Winners Represent A Quest For Excellence

The Seminole Board of Education began a new tradition this year by the giving of Awards of Excellence. Thirteen recipients of these awards were selected by the faculty in fourteen scholastic departments. They were chosen upon outstanding performance over a two or three year period of time. Superintendent Dr. Audie Woodard stated, "These students represent the continued quest for excellence among all Seminole High School students." Each winner, along with his or her parents, received a formal invitation to a banquet hosted by the Board of Education. This banquet was held May 7, 1987. Each student was presented an Awards of Excellence pin and a gold-embossed certificate. These awards will be presented annually. Dr. Woodard said, "This is the beginning of a tradition of academic excellence that we hope will last forever."

Party Time Provided By "Mardi Gras" Prom

One event serves as the unofficial signal that school is on the down hill run and summer is rapidly approaching. That single event is the prom. This year's prom was held at the Seminole Junior College Student Union on May 2, at 9:00. The theme was Mardi Gras, and decorations were highlighted by a dragon head with a balloon tail encircling the ceiling. Those attending received a mask and the traditional glass. Music was provided by KJ103, and many stayed to dance until midnight. Chosen as the prom king and queen were Dannie Danielson and Chelle Spears.

The junior class worked many hours at night for two weeks in preparation for this event, and long after the party was over clean-up crews worked to tear down all that had been the objects of earlier toil. Everyone agreed that it had been worth the time and effort required to arrange the prom of 1987.

With nervous anticipation Cary Morgan and Kevin Meyers pass the time before the opening strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" signal the beginning of the ceremonies.

Remembering Old Times

At SHS

There were many memorable times for the "Class of '87" and certainly graduation was one of them. The robes, the long ceremonies, and the nervous stomachs didn't seem so bad when all was done, and the graduates thought back on it. There were many good friends, good times, and much excellence among the class. This will definitely be a TIME TO REMEMBER for all.

Last minute preparations are made by Scott Massay, Brad McAlvain, and Gary Looney.

Graduation Brings A Time To Look Toward The Future

The 1987 Seminole High School graduates were a special group of people. There were many things which distinguished them from other graduating classes, but the one thing that stands foremost in our minds is their excellence in achievements and studies. Many of these outstanding students were honored in the Sports Banquet and in the Awards Assembly for their outstanding achievements in both areas. This class was honored with having three valedictorians; Amy Doudican, Kerri Hardin, and Cathy Kahn, and two salutatorians; Elizabeth Gipson and Sonja Qualls. This class was the first to recognize their honors students in the commencement ceremonies. Students in the Honors Program took certain required courses and were required to keep their grades not lower than a C for the semester, maintaining a 3.00 G.P.A., and attending a full schedule of classes, six full hours each day, for four years. These select students had the honor of receiving their diplomas first in the graduation ceremonies, wore stoles on their gowns distinguishing them as honors students, and were introduced as honors students during the class roll to receive their diplomas. Another thing which made the "Class of '87" special was their size. Students who earned diplomas numbered 115, an unusually large number for SHS. Besides having a large, well educated, honorable class, they also had distinguishing ceremonies. 1987 was the first year ever for the administration to shorten the ceremonies by cutting out the taking of the official photos. The group shot and individual pictures of graduates receiving their diplomas were taken the morning of graduation, and this made sitting through the commencement ceremonies in the hot gym not only exciting, but more comfortable as well. The "Class of '87" is very proud of their achievements and hope they have set a good example for future Seminole High School classes to follow.

Student Council Sponsors School Activities

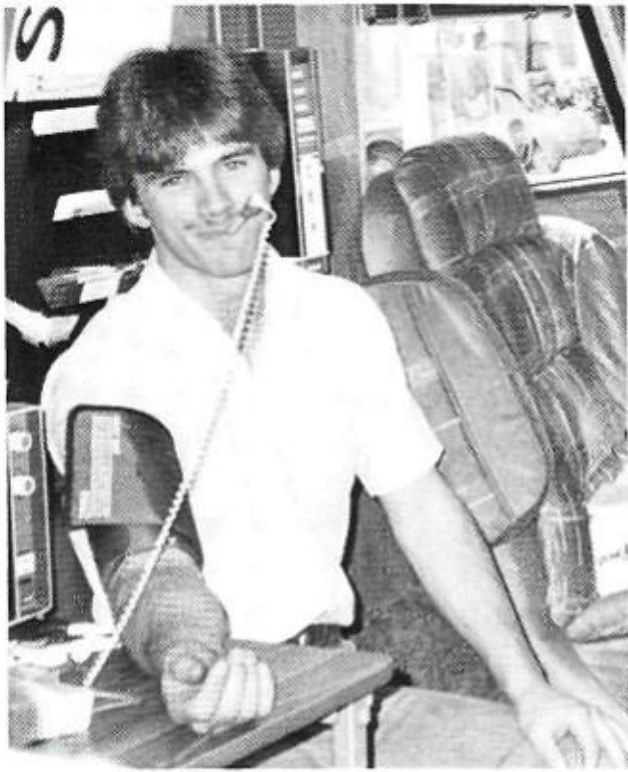

Members Attend A Convention

The Student Council sponsors school activities such as dances, movies, all homecoming activities, Candy Grams for Christmas, and Twirp Week. The annual blood drive, held April 1, was a major project of Stuco. Members also gave assistance with pep assemblies and parent-teacher conferences. All school elections during the year were run by the Student Council. This year the State Student Council Convention was held in Moore by the State Secretarial School. Members of the State Student Council Association and National Student Council Association attended. Here they elected upcoming state officers, split into groups, and listened to speakers on how to improve the student body's participation during the school year. Later a banquet was held along with a dance. Mrs. Donna Willis, a member of the State National Advisory Association, served as Stuco Supervisor.

Being a part of the Student Council involved many time-consuming projects, but the student body appreciated them greatly. Jennifer Qualls expressed the benefits of being on the Student Council by saying, "Stuco has taught me leadership and responsibility and has taken time and effort but has paid off in the end."

Lowell Wallace participates in a Stuco project by giving blood.

FCA Provides Support

Fellowship And Spiritual Growth Are Primary Goals

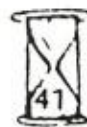

Karl Jones tells why he enjoys FCA.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes has one main purpose --- to help each athlete realize what God can do in his life. Brian McAlvain stated, "FCA is a good time for fellowship and also to learn something about the Lord." Every Wednesday night after church, FCA members meet in homes of the members. They take food and beverages and have the opportunity to share their problems and hopefully get answers. One of the activities they were involved in this year was Parents' Night where the parents had a chance to share in the fellowship. Another activity was the Christmas Party. The members went caroling and then to a home for refreshments and an exchange of gifts. Not only does FCA get down to business, but Mr. Mike Snyder and Ms. Donna Willis make sure the times they have are memorable and enjoyable. Angela Childers said, "FCA is a time to be with all your friends, share your ideas, and learn about the Lord."

The Future Homemakers of America participated in many activities, requiring hours of preparation and fundraising. To raise money for trips and conventions, the FHA members sold Lovable Bears during December and worked in the concession stands. November the fifth, members attended the Sub-District Rally at Stuart High School, and on May the third and fourth, they attended the State Convention at the Myriad. Donnell Chessser stated, "FHA rallies provide answers to your questions, and they help assemble a more definite view of FHA." Going to the Pioneer Nur Home to Christmas carol, followed by a pizza party, and the Mother Daughter Banquet in May were a few other events enjoyed by members.

Indian Club Members Learn Traditions

Study Of Heritage Is Major Goal

Many Indian Club members joined this club to learn traditions of the Indian people. The meetings were held when president Kimberly Talamasey decided. In these meetings, they discussed fundraisers, election of officers, trips to be taken, and the O. U. games. Sonja Herrod stated, "As Vice president I planned to get all the Indian students to join and attend all meetings if possible." Fun times, learning some traditions of long ago, meeting new people, sharing ideas, and helping other Indian students to become better students is what Indian Club is all about.

Supporting Teams Requires Hard Work

A very important part played by the Senior and Junior High Cheerleaders this year was supporting the Chiefs. Team effort was one of many things learned by them. "To be spirited and have a good attitude about everything," is what Amie Waddell felt she learned the most. The girls had a very busy schedule during camp at O.U., which started June the 16th and ended the 20th. Tina Ruminer remembered when "Andi Hallum went 'nuts' and performed a stomp dance in front of the whole camp." Working hard all day was worth it when both the Senior and Junior High received two Superior and two Excellent Awards and the Super Squad Award. Of course, being with friends and just having a good time is well worth leaving home for. Having their girls practice three times a week, Mrs. Rose and Mrs. Modellmog thought it was worth the hardships when they cheered for the Seminole Chieftains at pep assemblies.

Amy Doudican Honored

Drill Team members promote spirit throughout S.H.S. and provide halftime entertainment. During June the members attended the SMU superstar Drill Team Camp along with 1,200 participants from all over the country.

Upon returning, they looked forward to practicing at 7:00 A.M. in the gym during football and basketball seasons. "Drill Team is a lot of hard work, but it is worth it when you perform, and it makes the crowd happy," stated Heather Knowles.

Throughout the year many fundraising activities went on, such as selling Chieftain buttons, working concession stands, and working as car hops at the Sonic one day. One Drill Team member Amy Doudican, received a great honor. She participated in the Aloha Bowl halftime show in Hawaii, receiving this honor by being a "pink ribbon winner" at Camp. Amy remarked, "Hawaii was a lot of fun, rules, and regulations."

Time To Shine

Chiefs Are Outstanding

Our Chieftains had a great season this year with a record of nine wins and only three losses. A lot of hard work from both the players and the coaches tied the Seminole Chieftains with the Milwood Falcons and the McGuiness Fighting Irish for the District 3A-5 Championship.

Not only were the Chiefs outstanding as a team, but several of them were recognized for their individual talents. Denon Payne was selected for the all-state team and was named Offensive Back of the Year; Kevin Sifford was named Offensive Lineman of the Year; John Sharpe, Defensive Back of the Year; and our very own, Coach Mike Snyder, was honored with the title of Coach of the Year in District 3A-5.

Making the first All-District Team on defense were: Inside Linebackers, Brian McAlvain and Darin Lutz; Defensive End, Branon Bowen; Corner Back, Chris Carrell; and Safety, Brent Benn. Guard Stephen Battles made the offensive first All-District team.

Chieftains selected for the second All-District team were Onis Croce, Landon Johnson, Karl Jones, Cary Morgan, Greg Pritchard, Joe Victory, Joe Waller, Brent White, and Willie Williams.

Coach Snyder summed up the events of the 1986-1987 season with these words, "At the beginning of the year, I thought we'd have a good ball club. I thought we had a lot of seniors who promised good leadership and that's exactly what we got. Every time you go out on that field there's a chance you'll get beat, but we were pleased to have a record of 9-3. We tied for District Champions and that's really great."

Time Will Tell

Junior High Exceeds Expectations

"At the beginning of the year, some of them didn't even know how to put their pads on," says Jack Kapella, coach of the eighth grade football team. The freshmen team, although being able to dress in their football equipment, were also not expected to do great things this season.

However down things may have looked for the junior high teams, they soon began to change. Within only a few weeks the eighth grade and freshmen football teams began to show promise. With plenty of practice, some fantastic coaching, and a lot of raw talent, the junior high teams exceeded their expectations to achieve spectacular records for the 1986-1987 football season. The eighth grade set their record at six wins, only one loss, and a tie. The freshmen team ended the season with six wins and two losses. The junior high teams of today have been predicted as the winning high school team of tomorrow.

Inexperience Is No Handicap

Chieftainettes Set Records

The girls' basketball team showed how dedication and hard work pay off in their 1986-1987 basketball season. When the team started, they were young and inexperienced. However, at the end of the year school records were set by the girls individually as well as in a team effort. Leslie Jackson and Nana Jackson led in individual records with Leslie being recognized for the most offensive rebounds for one season, most offensive rebounds for one game, most assists in one season and most assists in one game. Nana was recognized for most blocked shots for one season (best in state) and most blocked shots in one game. Kristi Lawson was made a member of the "30 Point Club" by scoring over 30 points in two games.

With individual talent such as this, it's no wonder the Seminole High School girls made it to the regionals in the 1986-1987 basketball season.

High School Boys Go To Area

1986-1987 proved to be a good year for Chieftain Basketball. The boys held a record of eighteen wins and eleven losses, a record that almost got them to the State play-offs. Coach Blankenship reports that this is the first team to make it to Area since 1977. "The team will be losing several seniors," says Coach Blankenship. "But there will be many experienced ball players coming back." He predicts that next season will be at least as successful as this year's.

SHS Baseball Is A Big Hit

With all the hard work and dedication, the Chiefs 1987 season was 20-11. Coaches Mike Snyder and Donny Trammell helped make this one of their best years. They earned many titles, including District Champions for the thirteenth year in a row. Also, they were consolation champions in the Seminole tournament and runner-ups in the Byng tournament.

Smashing Success

Tennis Teams Serve Up A Winning Season

The High School tennis teams served up a successful season! The girls won seven matches while the boys only came out ahead in two, but together, the teams placed in seven tournaments, four of which they placed in the top three. Elizabeth Gipson was recognized for her tennis-playing abilities in that she was chosen to be a member of "The All-Star Team", "The All-State Team", and "The All-American Team". Only six players are selected for the "All-American Team" and they are picked from Class 3A, 4A, and 5A schools. Elizabeth was also honored with the title of "Outstanding Female Tennis-player of the Year."

The teams put out a tremendous effort, and it paid off in tournament games as well as regular season games. The boys' tournament record for 1986-1987 is as follows. The first doubles team, Brian Cunningham and Kevin Meyers, were third place in regionals and made it to the quarter finals at State. The second doubles team, Craig Day and Chris Carrell, placed third in regionals and got to quarter finals at State. John McCarthy attained first place at Regionals and went as far as the quarter finals at State.

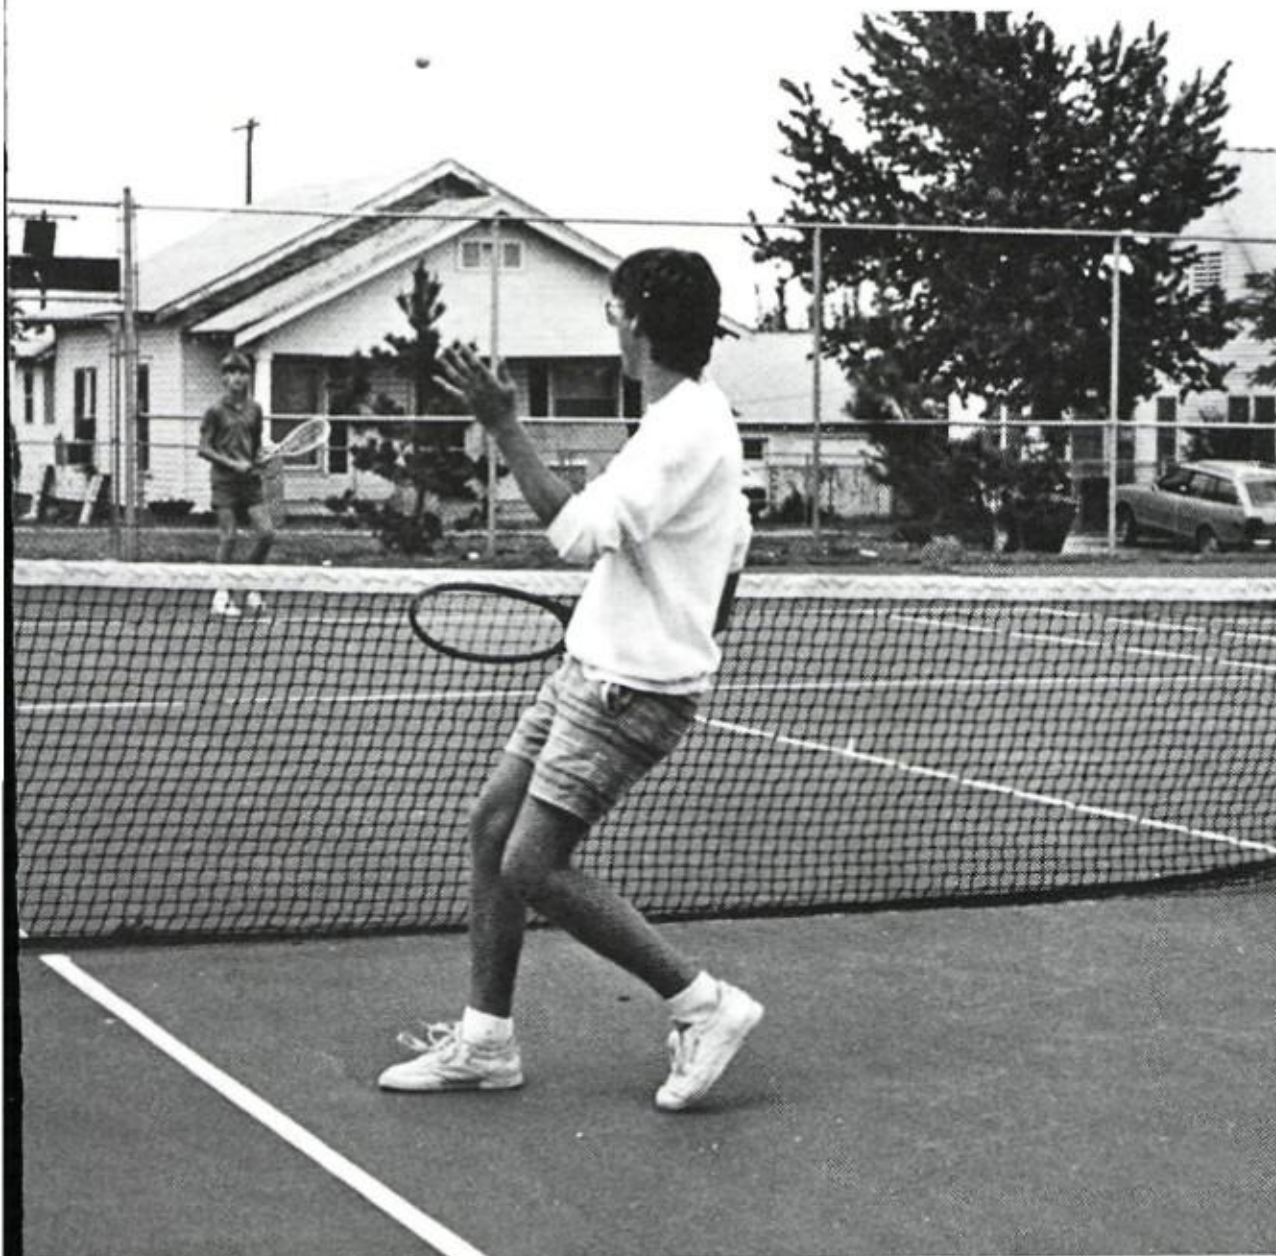

The girls' team performed dutifully to acquire these records. The first doubles team, Angela Childers and Wendy Steinman, placed third in Regionals and got as far as the quarter finals at State. The second doubles team, Kara Martin and Sonja Nelson attained third place at Regionals and made it to the quarter finals at State. Elizabeth Gipson was first at Regionals and runner-up at State. Suzanne Edwards finished in first place at Regionals and third place at State. The 1986-1987 tennis teams are to be congratulated on their spectacular performance throughout the year.

"I look forward to next year with the experience and enthusiasm of the players. We have a lot of interest from the junior high teams and that should help to make next year even more successful than this year."

Donna Willis expressed her feelings about the up and coming season and sounded very optimistic when mentioning the junior high teams. The junior high girls' team were five and zero, a superb record for a young team. At the Seminole Junior High Tournament, Wendy Snow and Jennifer Nelson made it to the quarter finals. At the Ada Tournament, doubles team, Amy McRay and Shannon North, did equally well. The junior high boys' team didn't have quite as good a season as the girls did but showed major improvement throughout the year. One player in particular stood out when it came to improvement. Jeremy Dennis's hard work and determination caused him to improve immensely. His coach, John Phillips, is extremely proud of Jeremy's efforts and believes that he, along with the other junior high players, will go on to make a winning high school tennis team.

Boys Track Gets In Shape

The boys' track team is smaller than in past years, but they still have the Chieftain spirit to work hard. This year they worked on improving their techniques and skills. Shannon Grimes qualified for the State Track Meet and place sixth in the shot put. Willie Williams scored in the shot put and was named Outstanding Track Athlete. Rick Gagarin was in the relay, 400 meter, and discus. Darby Hill placed in the 400-meter dash while Mike Newson and Clint Robertson placed in the 400-meter dash and relay. Outstanding freshmen who scored for the high school team were Jason Henson in the 800 meters and high jump and Sheldon Herrod in the one and two-mile runs.

Girl's Track Team Qualifies For State Meet

The girls' high school track team had another successful year. They place second in Regional and eighth at the State Meet. They placed first in many tournaments including OBU, OSU, and Perry. They placed third at Putnam City, Carl Albert, and Holdenville Invitational meets.

Several members qualified for the state meet. Nikki Pebworth ran 61.9 in the 400 meters and 25.9 in the 200 meters. Diedre West ran the 3200 meters in 12:23.8, 1600 meters in 5:44.7, and the 800 meters in 2:28.1. Linda Treat tossed the shot put 33'10", qualifying her. Nana Jackson ran the 300-meter hurdles in 47.2 and leaped 5'4" in the high jump and 16'10" in the long jump.

One outstanding freshman who helped the team was Jennifer Parsons. She won numerous awards and placed in all races that she ran. She placed in the 1600 with 6:01 and the 800 with 2.40.

ACADEMICS

Talents Develop

Art And Business Remain Popular

The art students have been busy competing in the "Visions of the Universe" at Kirkpatrick Planetarium, "Young Talent in Oklahoma" at the Oklahoma Art Center, and the SHS Art Contest. Public library displays and guest speakers such as Betty Watson, local artist, Senator Kelly Haney, artist, and Kelly Kirk, Seminole Junior College instructor have been a few of the activities in which the art students have participated. Chris Womble said, "I like art because you get to sit around all hour and draw and get a grade for it. It's a lot better than doing work."

The business and computers department is teaching students many applications in typing and computers. The students in business and computers are applying their skills to operating a micro-computer, developing new skills in keyboarding, and learning advanced typewriting techniques. "Typing will get you away from books and definitions, but it's so noisy," said Monica Myrick.

Putting her artistic talents to work, Heather Knowles works on a drill poster.

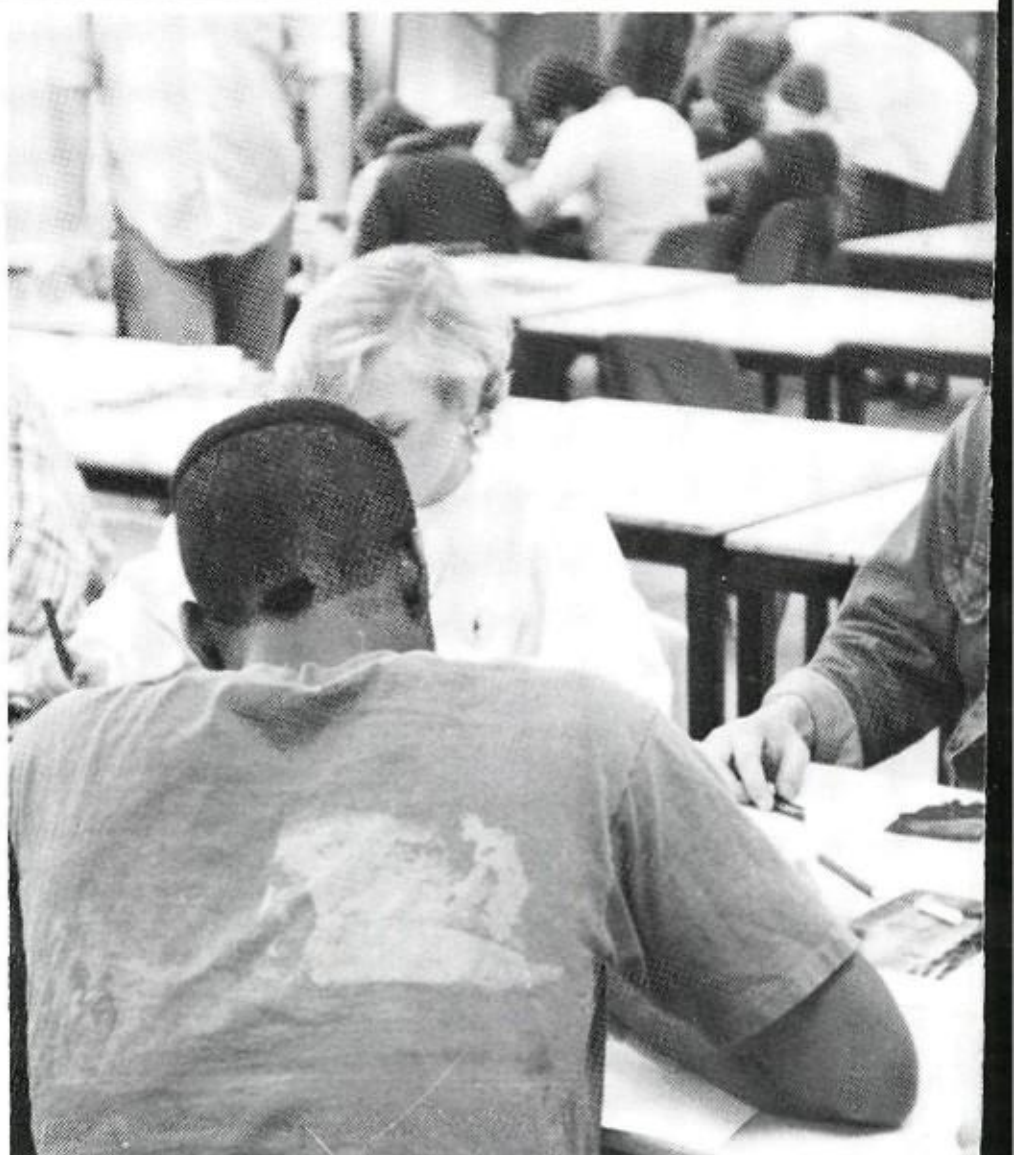

Art students help promote the holiday spirit by preparing door decorations and signs.

"You can make art enjoyable." -Denise Mills

"This class gives me an intellectual concept of the fine points of art." -Kane Hammersley

While Mike Newson and Kimako Fowler work on their "pointillism" project, Kevin Brinker and Brian Underwood pose for the camera.

Mrs. Presley offers assistance as Lindy White works on perfecting keyboard techniques.

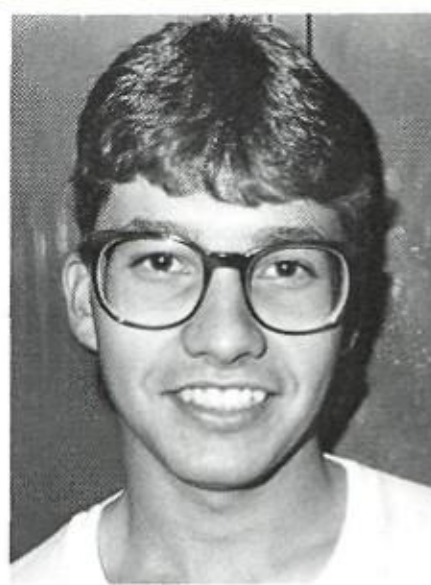

Figuring out what command is needed can be exasperating as Lori Bonin, Stacy Carter and Brian Danielson quickly discover.

Lindy White, Jeri Cramer, Tammy Corona, and Angie Knight prove that using computers requires great concentration.

Mrs. Whitley encourages Kendall Roberts, Jason Seeley, and Felicia Evans as they make decisions about their "T-Shirt Factory," their typing project.

"Business Computers is a fun class. I have learned a lot about the computer and what I can do with computers. - Jeri Cramer

"Business computers has been a great influence on my study habits and will help me to flourish in the future. - Trace Conner

Bob Fraley, M.D./Business And Computers

Mrs. Battles encourages these ninth grade athletes to enjoy the "delights of literature."

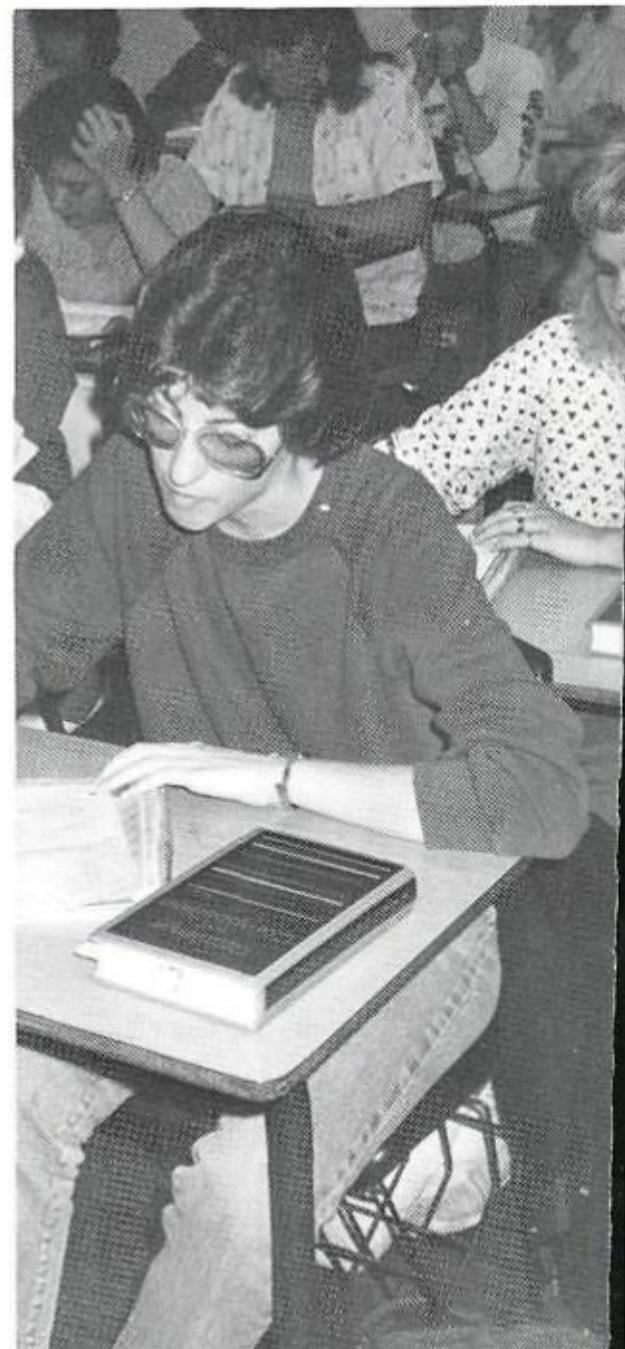

The Study Of Languages Exposes Students To New Philosophies

Reading, writing, grammar, and basic thinking skills are the fundamentals English teachers hope to teach their students. "Senior English isn't as tough as it seems if you do your work and do what you're supposed to," quoted Nikki Peabworth. The benefits of English are innumerable. Besides giving students a basic working knowledge of the language, English can open a whole new world of ideas and philosophies. Jenny Qualls said, "Although my trying to read Julius Caesar out loud in class didn't work out too well, sophomore English was still one of my easiest and most enjoyable classes."

Each year, the foreign language classes are increasing because of the Honor's Program. Kara Martin learned a lot from her Spanish class, such as "when Mrs. Lemons goes for the door, quickly cover your ears!" Foreign language exposes students to the geography and culture of other countries. The foreign language class also attended a foreign language festival at East Central University. Rusty Hagler quoted his favorite phrase, "Callete la boca grande, Manuel. (Shut your big mouth, Manuel.)"

"Golly, gee! Senior English is really swell!"-
Cathy Kahn

Freshman English has Jerrilyn Plunkett and Charlotte Ramsey's attention — for the moment.

Shane Barrett, Jamie Rose, and Mr. Phil enjoy listening to a short story in Traditional English.

Daphne McCoy and Charlotte Bailey prove there are moments of sheer enjoyment in French class.

"I've discovered that Madam Lemons has a lot of funny stories and her background in studying other culture can really make a foreign language interesting." Heather Calvin

Staff Creates Publications

The Newspaper Staff has worked diligently this year to print the Big Chief every month. Being a member of the newspaper staff requires a skill for interviewing, writing an historical account of school events, recognizing and using layout and design methods, and skill in salesmanship. This year the staff learned to type and print stories and print a newspaper using the computers. "Being in newspaper has helped me with my English and typing skills and has been fun at the same time," said Dana Brock.

Yearbook staff has also been very busy this year putting together the 1986-87 Chieftain. Shannon Cole felt yearbook gave her the skills and responsibility to meet deadlines. Working on the yearbook requires the ability to draw layouts, interview, write copy, and meet deadlines. "Yearbook has taught me to work with a group of people in various situations," quoted Michelle Mixer.

"Being on the Newspaper has given me many opportunities to learn about journalism." Chelle Spears

Top Ten Percent Chosen For Honor Roll

Being named to the honor roll at SHS was quite an accomplishment this year. The top ten percent of each class received this recognition. No one with a grade point lower than 3.50 was named to the honor roll. The senior honor roll was comprised of nine boys and fourteen girls with grade points ranging from 3.80 to 4.00. Grade points for the junior honor roll ranged from 3.67 to 4.00. These standards were set by nine girls and six boys. Nine boys and seven girls made up the sophomore honor roll. These students maintained a G.P.A. (Grade Point Average) of 3.50 to a 4.00. Standards were extremely high for both the eighth grade and freshman honor rolls. It took a G.P.A. of 3.83 to be in the top ten percent of these classes. The freshman class boasted ten girls and nine boys with nine of these students having a perfect 4.00. Five boys and five girls from the eighth grade received this recognition with sixty percent of them making a 4.00.

Freshman Honor Roll: Stacy Walker, Robert Crawford, Dana Beckwith, Amie Waddell, Erin Gillespie, Laura Seay, Angela Kneeland, Chris Denning, Jason Henson, Amy McRay, Shannon North, Kyle Boggs, Mark Nogalski, Jerri Jackson, Jennifer Pinkerton, Steve Jeter, Jason Benn, Staci Dill, Chris Hammond.

Students Prepare For Future Roles

Home Economics 8, I, II, and Family Living are what make up the Home Economics department at SHS. Home Economics provides basics in careers, relationships, marriage and parenting, and nutrition and food. Home Economics helps students have a better understanding of themselves and teaches them skills that will make life more enjoyable. Michelle Combs will be forever grateful to Mrs. Badgett for teaching her to make play dough. "I'm sure my children will appreciate it."

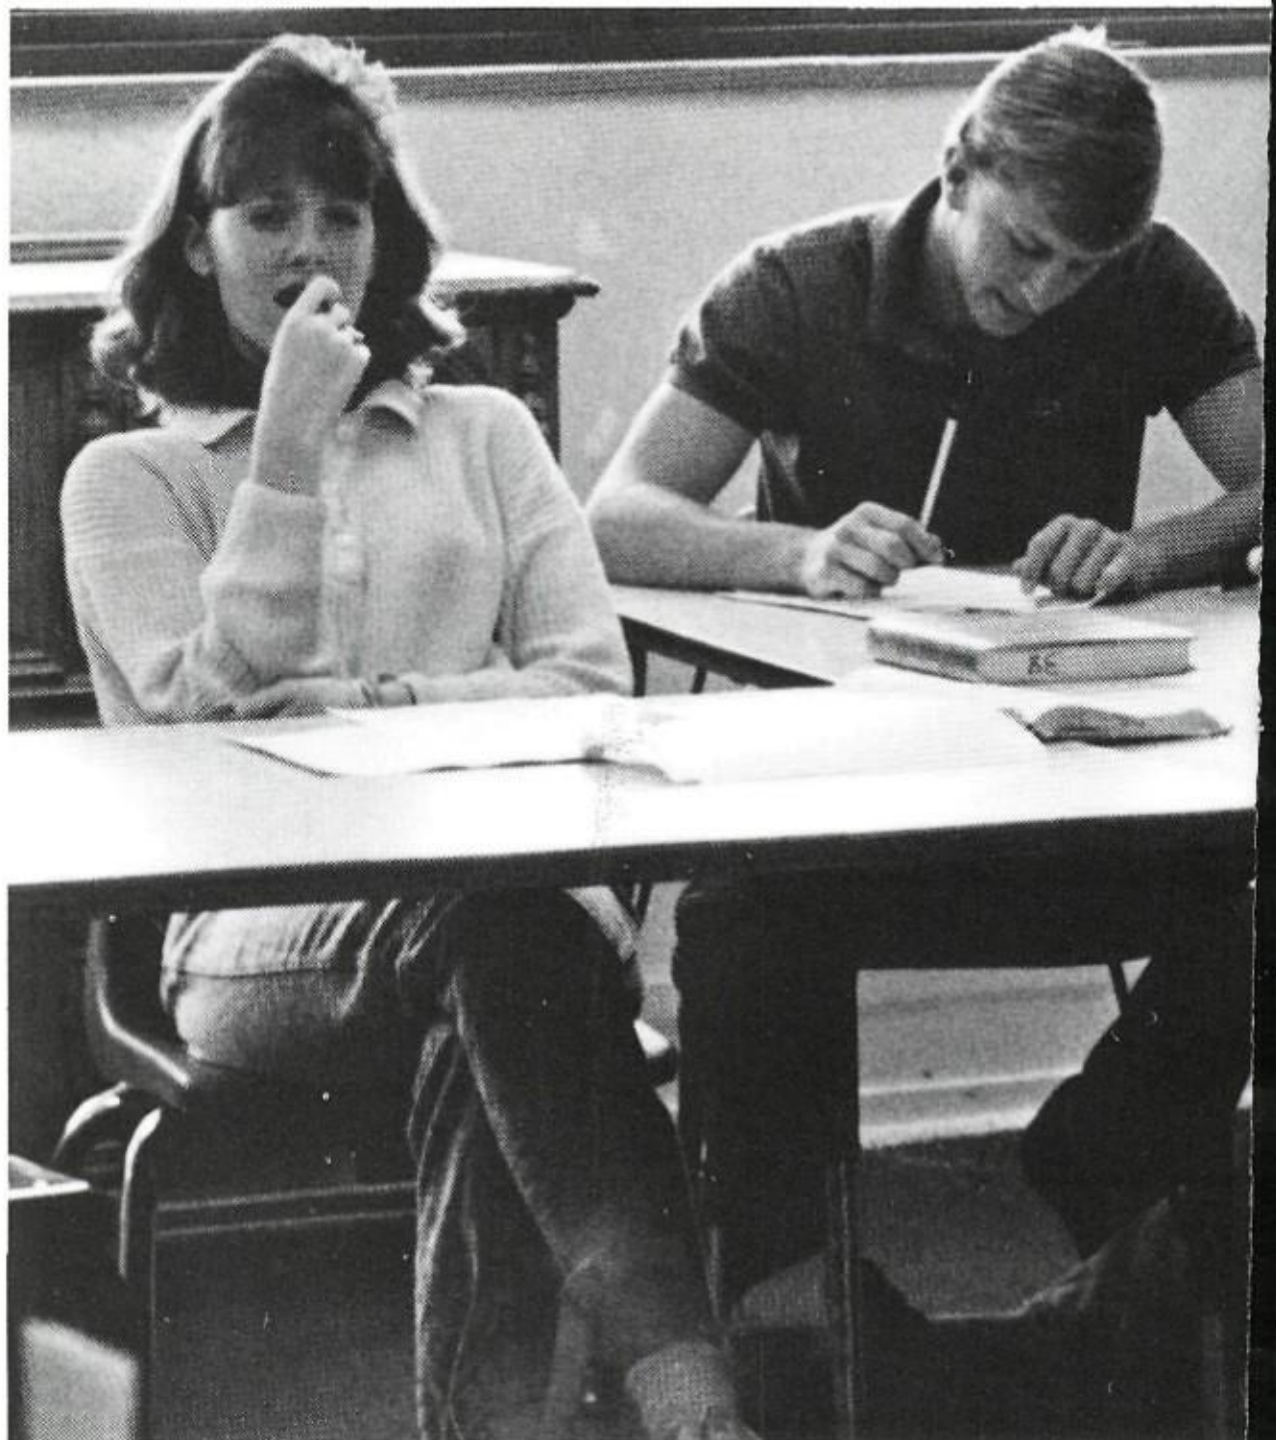

Students benefit from the industrial arts classes by putting to practical use everything learned in other classes by using the "hands-on" method. "I enrolled in drafting because some day I would like to design aerospace equipment," quoted Eric Whitt. The woodworking class made projects from toy cars to cedar chests and kitchen cabinets. In metal working, the students' projects ranged from tool boxes to utility trailers. Ralene Robertson entered drafting because she wishes to pursue a career in architecture and enjoys the challenge of drawing. Metal working, woodworking and drafting comprise the Industrial Arts Department.

Logic Is Vital

Picking up and recording attendance, delivering messages, running errands, as well as picking up and distributing the high school's mail are the responsibilities of an office aide. Library aides also have much responsibility, such as checking books in and out, shelving materials, and using the card catalog to locate books. "I like to work where it is quiet, unlike other classes," quoted David Kolander.

The math department is composed of eighth grade pre-algebra, eighth grade Algebra I and II, geometry, trigonometry, calculus, and eighth grade basic and general math. Math promotes analytical and logical thinking skills, increases knowledge about other subjects and the way nature is put together. This year there was an addition of advanced placement calculus, which enabled successful students to obtain college credits (up to five hours) for calculus. Math is a two-credit unit required to graduate. Mrs. Cushman left a very positive mark upon many of her students this year. Andi Hallum said, "Mrs. Cushman is a fabulous math teacher and helped me develop my ability to do proofs."

Brian Decocq seeks Mrs. Kimmel's aid as he finishes his research.

"One reason I like working in here, is because it's fun, and I can go and get my friends out of class, and get them in trouble."

175 Students Find A Time To Sing

Mixed Chorus involves many students in SHS. Students participating in choir learn basics of theory, performing in front of an audience, composure, and self-confidence. Choir gave Shawnda DeLozier an opportunity to be involved and to get to know a wide variety of people during high school. This year choir received Superior ratings at the East Central University District Vocal Music Contest for Senior Girls' Ensemble, Darin Lutz, Kris Askin, and Barbara Lemons. At the Oklahoma State University State Vocal Music Contest, the choir received an Excellent rating for Senior Girls' Ensemble, Darin Lutz, Kris Askin, and Barbara Lemons. When asked what he enjoyed about choir, John Scott said, "I like choir because it helped develop my vocal chords." Mixed Company performed at the State Fair, various civic groups and clubs, outdoor concerts, and several regular concerts.

New Director Leads Band Work And Fun Produce A Successful Year

The 1986-87 year was a successful one for the Seminole High School band. This was the first year they were under the direction of Mr. Tim Clinton. The marching band received third place in field marching at the Wetumka Marching Contest, Sweepstakes in Class 3A at the Maysville Marching Contest, and an Excellent at the Regional Marching Contest. "Band is a lot of hard work, but also a lot of fun," quoted Kim Talamasey. The band also participated in the East Central Homecoming parade and the Seminole Christmas Parade. Justin Lewis was awarded the Green Pride Marching Award and the Outstanding Bandsman Award while the Award of Excellence was received by Steve Serres. Gene "Flake" Guild feels "band is the only class I can be not only artistic, but also insane and still get a good grade for it." The concert band received an Excellent rating at the Weleetka contest and qualified for State at the District contest with a Superior rating in sightreading. Willie Plunkett said, "Band is just one big party."

Eighth grade Social Studies widens a person's view of the world.

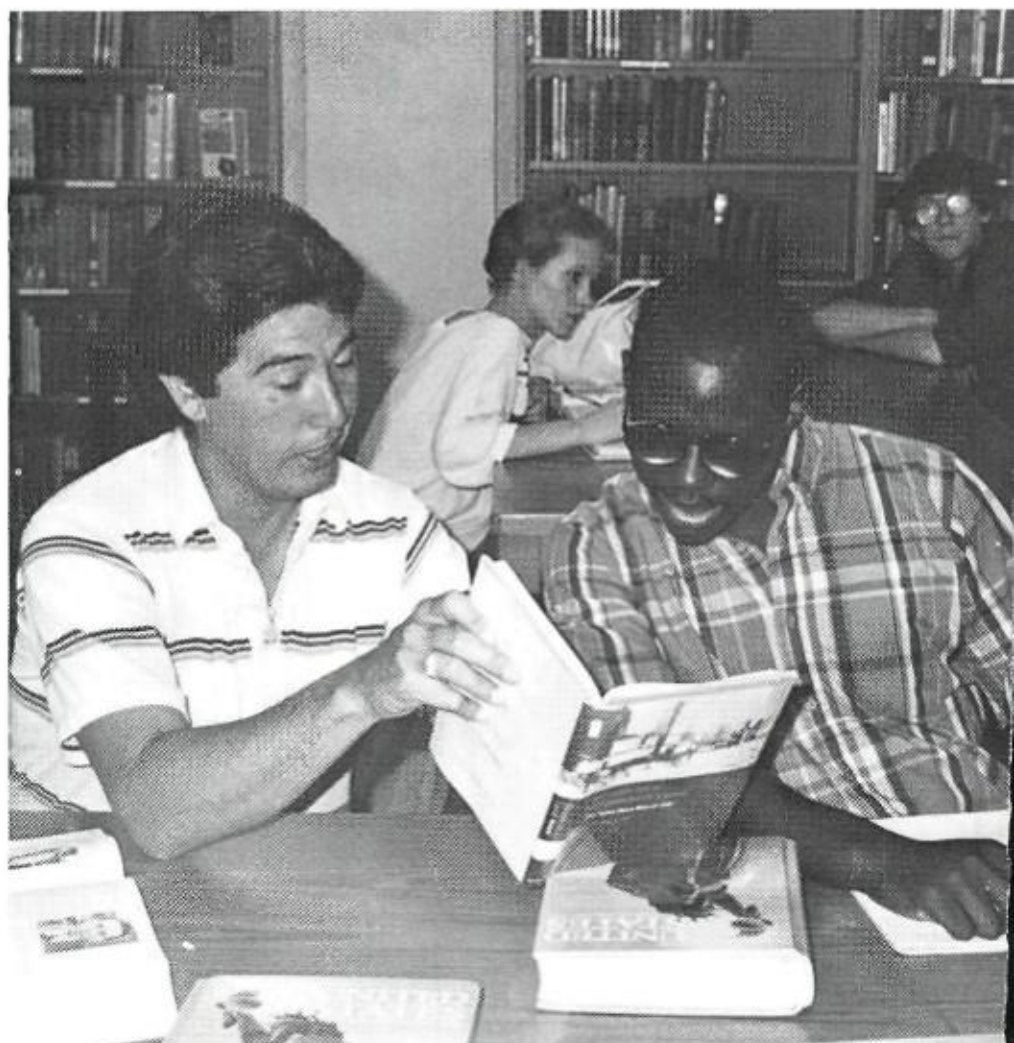

"American history tends to be a real bore, but Mr. Hastings helps put life into it."

- Sonja Nelson

"Even though I'll probably flunk American history, it's been real."

- Jason Willis

Research seems to be a part of history class. Mr. Hastings finds just the right tidbit of information for Byron English.

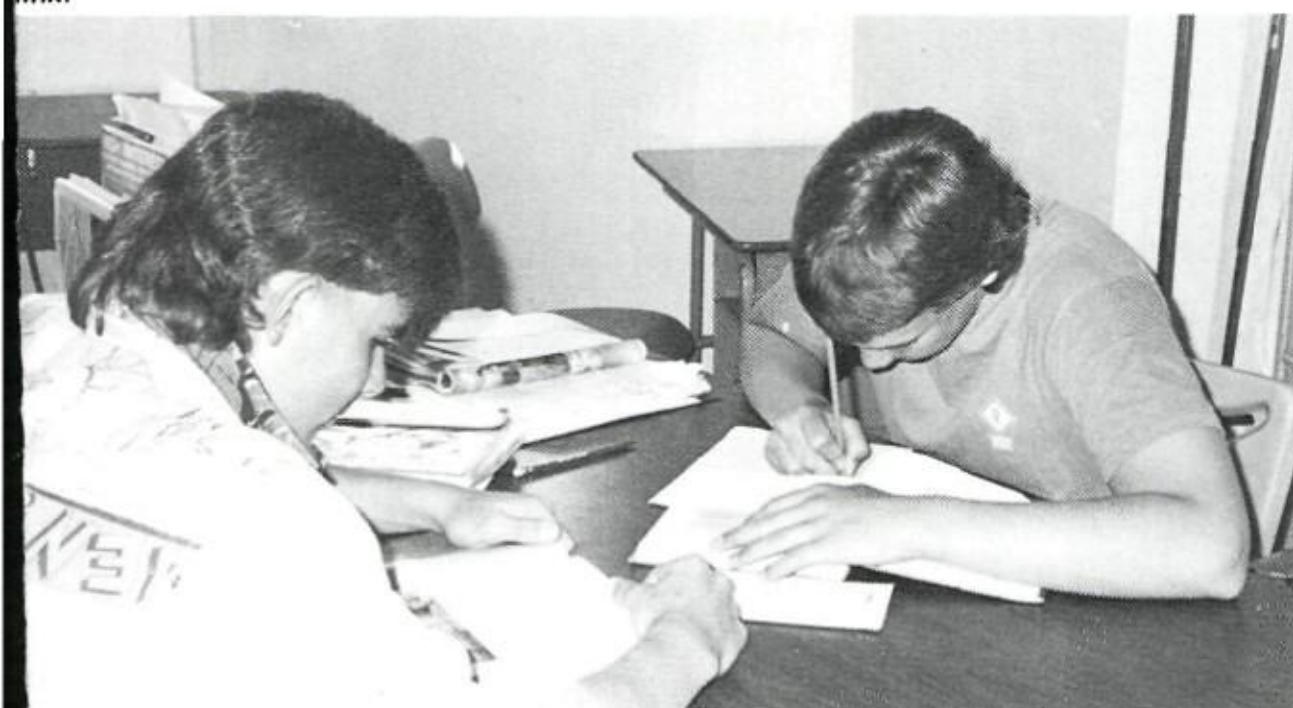

Waiting for class to begin, Mable Berry and Jan Mize take time out to think.

"Each day is a new and rewarding challenge."

- Mrs. Morgan

Chris Johnson and Tony Ferrier work on their social studies assignment.

Time Marches On Students Study American Heritage

"In World History it was interesting to know that 'some' people originated from apes," commented Ginger Fennell. The Social Studies department is concerned with the study of social relationships and the functioning of society. Social Studies helps a student to better understand himself, provides a chance to learn of our proud heritage, and enables students to see how our government works. The Social Studies classes offered at Seminole High School were 8th grade Social Studies, Oklahoma history, government, sociology, psychology, geography, world history, and American history. Staci Dill and Stacy Grisso find Mr. Hastings' "salt maps" a real learning experience.

The special classes provide extra help on an individual basis. English, science, math, history, and reading are covered in Mrs. Joleah Morgan's EMH class. Mrs. Beverly Cowan teaches Learning Disabilities which covers certain areas in which the student is weak.

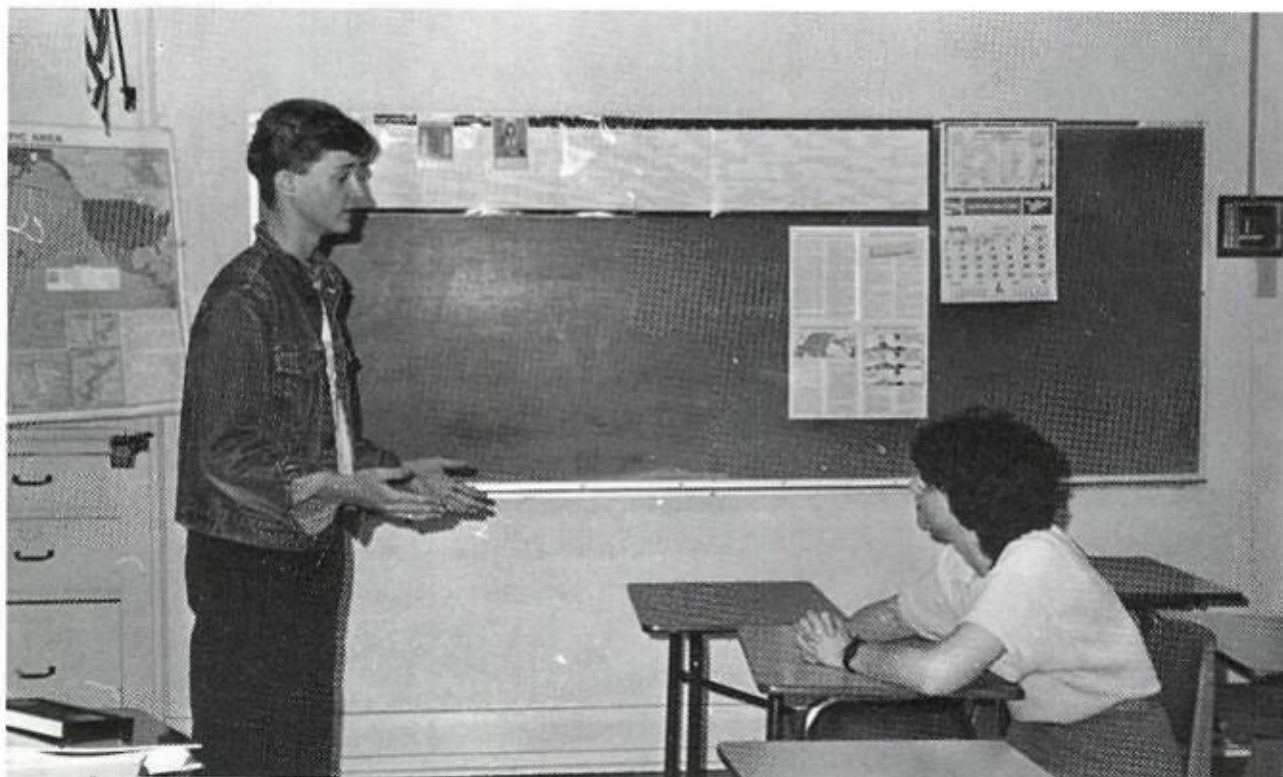

Working on an assignment on the computer can be fun and rewarding for Mable Berry.

Curtain Time

Two Plays Produced

Shakespeare wrote, "All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players." At SHS some students took this to heart and worked to develop their natural abilities. When asked what the best part of acting was, Daphne McCoy replied, "The best part is mostly just getting up in front of people and acting like a fool." Erica Davis agreed when she said, "Being able to ham it up on stage was the best part. Playing with the character to create a personality was a challenge." The drama department kept students challenged this year with two major productions. The first was It Happens Every Summer, presented on November 11, 1986, at 7:30 in the high school auditorium. This production was the end result of four and a half weeks of practice by the twenty-five-member cast. Then on March 2 and 3, they presented Guys and Dolls in conjunction with the music department. This musical had a cast of fifty who rehearsed for seven weeks. Although being a part of such a production is fun, it also can be frustrating. Miss McMasters explained that too many school activities often interfere with rehearsal time, and students not learning lines can be disappointing. In spite of these obstacles the two productions were spectacular successes, and the students learned from the experience. Daphne McCoy said that she learned the background of drama, improvisation skills, and how to get into and stay in a character. Erica Davis came to appreciate the effort required. She said, "I learned it takes a lot more work than most people realize. Timing is all-important!"

John McCarthy and Marcus Ely rehearse their duet.

"Drama is a very important class. You learn a lot and have lots of fun. It taught me to get up on stage and perform in front of people."

- Joe Victory

"Drama is a lot of fun. It taught me how much work really goes into acting."

- Kris Askin

"I took drama as a blow-off class, but I had a lot of fun in it. What other class can you legally act like a total fool?"

- Bren Wilson

"Drama allows you to express yourself freely through the use of characters."

- Theresa Roche

The debate team, led by Miss Judith McMasters had a rewarding year. They won Sweepstakes awards at Putnam City, Jenks, Sapulpa, Byng, Miami, and Ponca City. They also won Sweepstakes awards at Regionals and at State, which meant they were the State Champions. Stephanie Seavey won the State Championship in Lincoln Douglas and Foreign Extemporaneous. James Fowler and David Bain won the Regional Championship and were third in State, and Heather Calvin won third at State in Lincoln Douglas debate and Domestic Extemporaneous. At the Loyola University tournament in New Orleans, Seavey won first place in Extemporaneous and second place in Lincoln Douglas debate. The most outstanding achievement of the year was winning the State Championship.

The Science Department wasn't kept as busy as the debaters, but they did have a few field trips. The Chemistry II class visited the University of Oklahoma Chemistry Department, the zoology class visited the zoo, and the botany class visited several parks along with numerous trips to Mr. C.'s ranch.

Third Row - Elaine Hudson, Heather Calvin, Robert Robertson, Amie Waddell, Jennifer Nelson, Melissa Kahn, Lori Graham, and Stephanie Seavey.

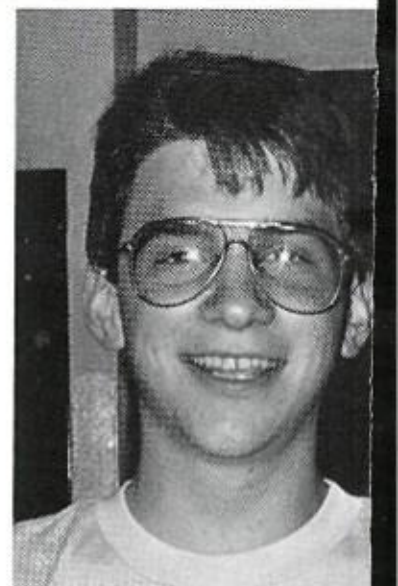

"Nothing is more fun than going to a debate tournament and getting no sleep, bad food and coming home number one in your event."

- Stephanie Seavey

"Even though we work harder and longer than any other activity in the school, just knowing that I'm part of the number one debate team in the state makes all the harder work worthwhile."

- Jeff Crabb

CLASSES

This year's class favorites were selected by a vote taken in senior English classes. A boy and girl for each of five categories were chosen.

Chosen as Most School Spirited were Cathy Kahn and Joe Victory. Cathy and Joe were seen at every pep assembly and game supporting the Chieftains.

Amy Doudican and David Bain were named Most Likely to Succeed. Having won numerous awards for scholastic abilities and participating in many activities, Amy and David spent long, hard hours studying to maintain a 4.00 average throughout school.

Voted The Friendliest were Chelle Spears and Chris Carrell. Chelle and Chris were always seen with a smile on their faces. Chelle's smile and Chris's grin brightened each day.

Trudy Seay and Denon Payne were named Most Talented. Trudy and Denon were involved in many activities. Trudy participated in Drill Team, drama, debate, Science Club, FCA, track, and was one of the leads in the school play. Denon participated in football, track, and was named to All State in football.

Voted Best All Around were Suzanne Edwards and Cary Morgan. Both were involved in many activities. Suzanne participated in Science Club, FCA, tennis, choir and was a member of Drill Team, Mixed Company, and the Student Council. Cary participated in FCA, football, baseball, and choir.

Because of their scholastic abilities, Amy Doudican and David Bain were chosen Most Likely to Succeed.

Cathy Kahn and Joe Victory were voted Most School Spirited

Seniors Celebrate Graduation Is A New Beginning

At the beginning of the 1986-87 school year, many seniors hadn't realized this was the last year to our high school career. Then with mixed emotions, many of us came to understand this was the last football game, last pep assembly to lead, last doughnut run, prom, and spring concert. In fact, the senior year marked the last time for many things. As the time passed by too quickly, we realized we had to treasure each minute of the wonderful memories we had together. As we walked down the aisle at graduation, we knew that we would lose some of our high school friends, but we would remember the great times we had shared together. Kris Askin expressed these feelings well. "The ending of our high school lives is the beginning of totally new ones. It's scary to think about not having the security of high school or of our parents in college. We're adults now. There are so many decisions to make about our future . . . I think 'commencement' is the perfect word for graduation. It means 'beginning.'"

Students Of The Month

Selected By A Faculty Vote

January
Kerri Hardin and Jeff Dyer

Each month two senior students, a girl and a boy, were selected by a vote of the faculty for special recognition as the Students of the Month. These students were then honored as guests of the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon. They were introduced, presented a certificate, and then photographed for the newspaper. These eighteen students were outstanding representatives of SHS this year.

This year's juniors were interviewed to find out just what makes them tick. Among the most memorable events of the year was "When Jamie Lunsford made a drive-thru out of Pizza Hut," said Becky Spears. Jason Hale and Justin Lewis remember the time the band went to an out-of-town football game with this comment from Mr. Harjo, "By the way, where is Millwood?" When asked what person they would remember most, Darren Fredrick replied, "Brian Cunningham, because his bumper fell off." Tracy Stephens amused Mike "Smurf" Newson when her car was towed away for illegal parking. Mr. Moody will be well-remembered because "he's funny," said Shelly Shepherd. Robin Lilly will always remember Coach Tinsley and his "cynical smile." American History was the class that everyone seemed to learn the most in. Mrs. Doudican had a slight edge over Mr. Moody as funniest teacher. Jeff Crabb commented, "Around our class she's considered the 'Queen of Zing'." Mr. Moody reminds Robin Lilly of "a game show host." Next we asked for some favorite hobbies at S.H.S. While Sonja Nelson enjoys "just hanging out with friends," Brian Cunningham enjoys "hunting sasquatch." The favorite fads were big shirts and gold and silver accessories.

Juniors Break Out Of Mold

The junior class was busier than ever this year with a number of activities. The first major event of the year was constructing the homecoming float. They gathered at Vice-President Brandi Ragland's home to begin work on their float. The theme was "Take the Luck from the Irish." The float was nearly complete when Mother Nature stepped in, and the day was rained out. But our diligent juniors didn't distress, they simply reworded their float to say, "We Stole the Luck from the Irish." All of their hard work (and fun) paid off when the float received second place in the parade.

The next item on the agenda was beginning to collect ideas and raise money for the Junior-Senior Prom. Among the money-making activities were the spaghetti supper, working football and basketball concession stands, and the traditional pictures which many students had made with their friends.

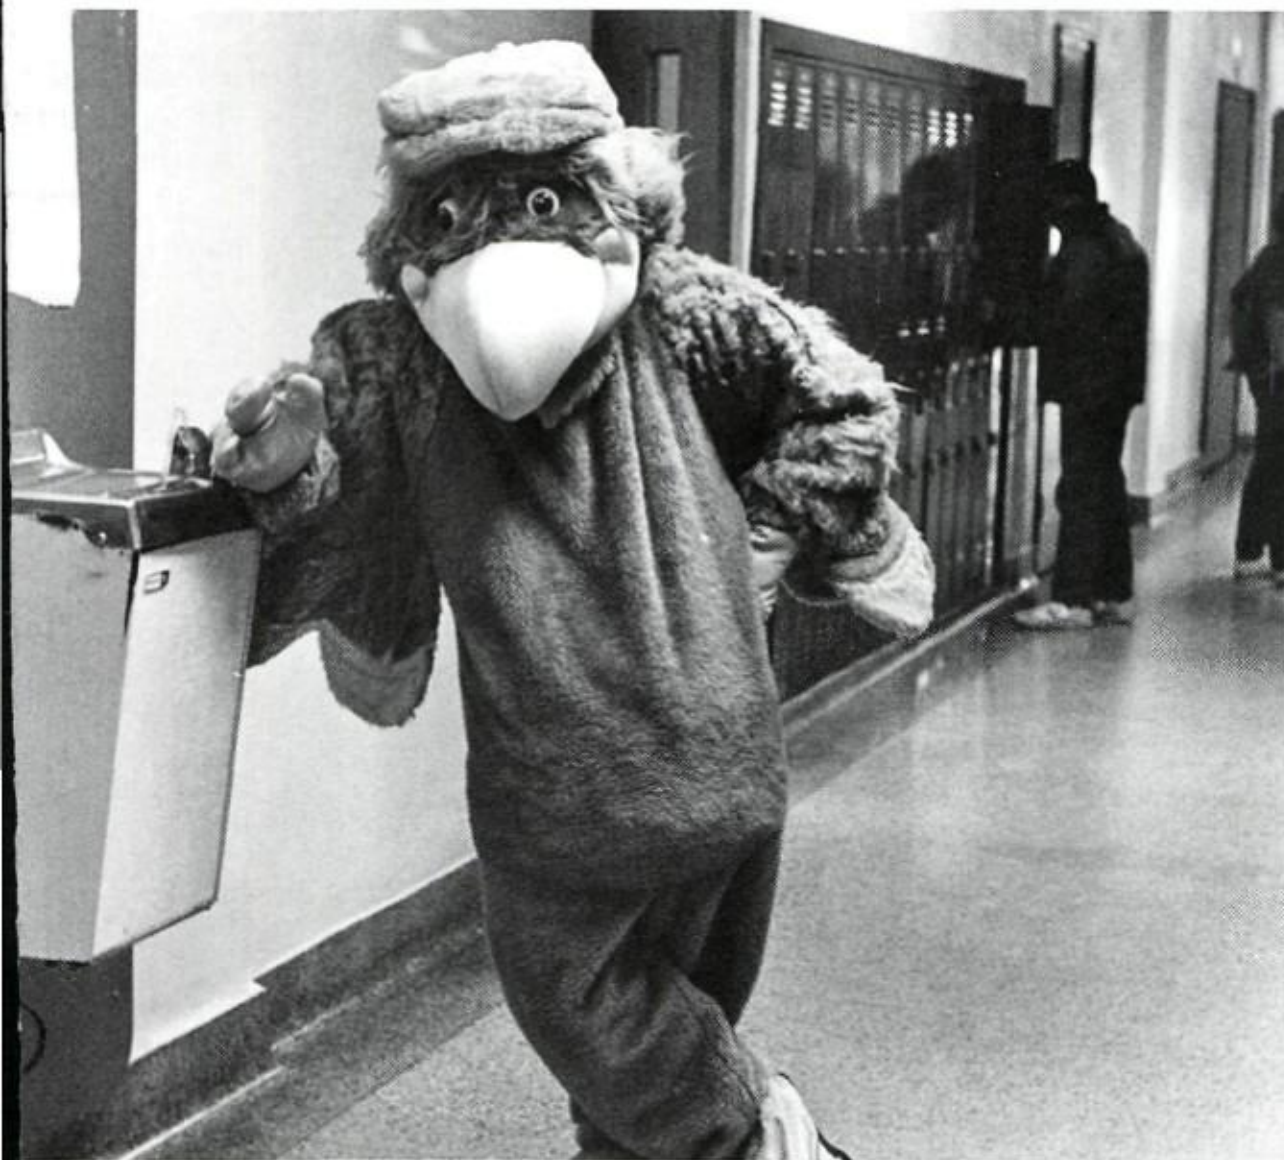

While the juniors went along with these traditions of past generations of SHS, they also broke a few. Instead of holding the prom at the Elk's Lodge, these trend setters chose to hold the dance at the Junior College Student Union. Another way in which they dared to be different was hiring a D.J. in the place of a live band. The theme chosen for the prom was "Mardi Gras."

Sophomores Enjoy New Responsibilities

Sophomores have finally come of age. This was the year many received their driver's license and class ring.

There were other events and people who made this year special. Most sophomores agree that Loney Biggerstaff was one of their favorites for his crazy attitude, while James Seavey was remembered for his craziness or bravery for wearing shorts on days it was below zero. Daphne McCoy said she'd remember "the skateboarders because they look like Skittles when they're all together with their shoes."

What would the year have been like without Mr. Moody and Mr. Cowart? Felisha Evans will remember Mr. Moody because "he is always hollering, especially when we are having a test." Brandon Moyer replied, "His voice carries forever." As everyone knows, Mr. Moody is loud to say the least, but what about the strange events? Jena Gleason recalled "Mr. Moody making Randy Sigle keep a water gun between his teeth the whole sixth hour."

Another favorite is Mr. Cowart.

Ralene Robertson commented, "We learn more than biology. We learn how to hunt." But everyone will remember him for his survival tips and stale jokes.

All sophomores share a common interest in fads. A big fad among Chris Womble, Todd Staley, and Chris Ritter was listening to the Beastie Boys and skateboarding. The biggest fad was clothes. Over-size clothes, Coca Cola, and Guess were the most popular. Jason Mitchell's favorite fad was wearing his underwear backwards.

Freshmen Gain New Respect

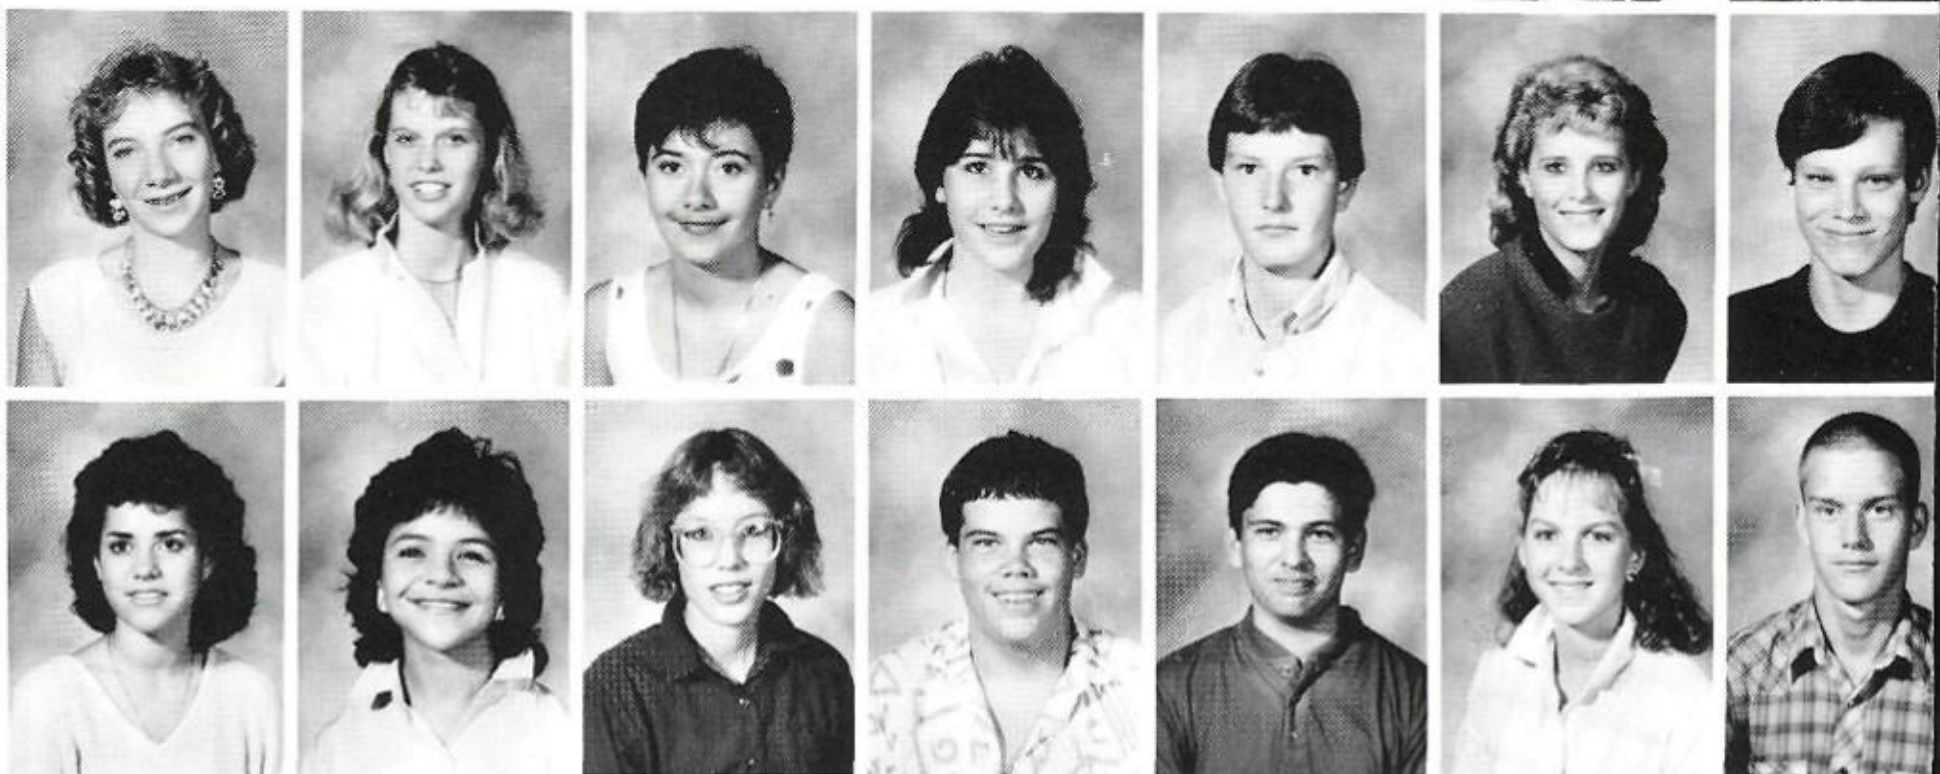

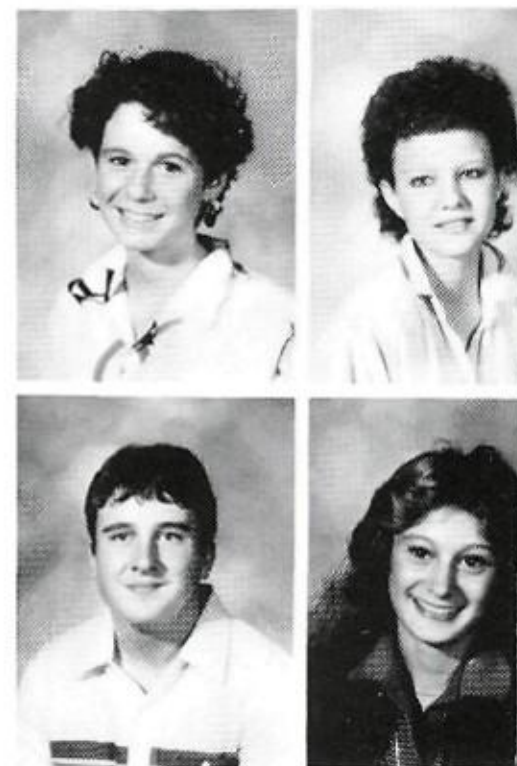

New Privileges Are Enjoyed

For the 1986-87 Freshmen, life has been different. Being a Freshmen means many things, for one it means more respect. Kim Akins and Chris Morgan feel that not being called a "scrub" anymore qualifies as more respect. Upper classmen actually start acknowledging ninth graders by saying "Hi!". Also they don't feel like crawling into a hole and dying from the embarrassment of not knowing the Battle Cry. More privileges are also received, such as getting rides to lunch, lockers on the second floor, and usually at least two classes on the first floor. This year, the Freshmen's favorite memory was having an "awesome" football team as said by Laura Seay and Wendy Snow, among many others. While other favorites were Coach Trammell as a teacher, writing on Mrs. Cushman's overhead projector, watching the scrubs run to lunch, and Cary Morgan's and Chelle Spears's homecoming kiss. For the next three years, the Freshmen would like to see the Coke and candy machines return. They would also like to see the "scrubs" move back into Northwood because they are so immature!" It seems they've all forgotten what they were last year, but that just goes along with the territory and moving up to being "Freshmen!"

Eighth Graders Live On

Eighth Graders Survive First Year At SHS

As summer ended and school started, the high school welcomed back its old students along with their greatest nightmare — this year's "scrubs." Most eighth graders this year had very realistic fears about this school. Among these were apprehensions about classes, their grades, teachers, upperclassmen, and peer pressure. But there were those few with unrealistic, (or are they really?!) fears like Jason Brinker and Scott Melton, who were afraid of being thrown out of a window, or Laura Gray, who was afraid of being pushed down the stairs. Others such as Robert Mitchell and Jason Lewis had the biggest fear of all, being called a "scrub"! Most eighth graders liked high school because of older people, pep assemblies, and the football games while others disliked the amount of stairs, hard classes, and "mean teachers." But mostly they hated being picked on by upperclassmen, who let their age and seniority give them tremendous ego problems. Whether good or bad, all the eighth graders had memories. Angela Gurley's memory was of the freedom the high school offers and the feeling of not being on death row. Part of that freedom for a few lucky ones was of getting rides to lunch. But getting rides back from lunch sometimes proved to be a problem as Lisa Mason and Laura Gray discovered when they were left at Pizza Hut.

The major consideration of the first year of high school is always a question of survival, but the eighth grade class of 1987 survived in style.

The Finale

Charles Dickens once wrote, "It was the best of times, it was the worst of times." In the midst of what many have referred to as the worst state-wide economic crisis since the Depression, many of us at SHS experienced what will perhaps be some of the best times of our lives. We made new friends, faced unusual challenges, achieved state recognition in many activities, and fulfilled academic requirements. We disagreed and reconciled; we faced what appeared to be insurmountable odds and conquered them; we experienced deep pain and learned to care; we gained knowledge from defeat and rose to succeed; we survived English, Chemistry II, history, and trigonometry, and some of us even discovered the "best" within ourselves — a quality we never knew was there. For those of us at Seminole High School, 1987 was "The Best of Times."

Finding a biography for an English book report requires the attention of Brad Driver and Keith Cordoni.

inch time remains a favorite among all students.
